Nation Eyes Primary In Hampshire

First Presidential Voting Of 1960 Pits Nixon And Kennedy

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—The farflung, intricate mechanics of choosing a president of the United States reached the ballot box stage today when New Hampshire voters went to the polls in the nation's first presidential primary of 1960.

Voting places generally open at 7 a.m. and in the cities close as late as 8 p.m.

A surprise snowfall ranging from one to three inches blanketed most of the state during the early morning hours. However, town meetings and an angry last-minute clash brought estimates of a total vote of more than 100,000.

That is only a handful by comparison with the millions of ballots still to be cast in forthcoming primaries. But politically, New Hampshire is a midget with a heavyweight's punch.

Today's election brings the first actual indication of voter sentiment into the presidential outlook, as distinct from polls, straw votes, and the calculated optimism of politicians.

Indirectly, it pitted Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon against Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Both stressed the importance of the New Hampshire primary on voters all over the nation—precisely because it is the first.

Nixon, in an election eve radio broadcast, said the primary "had tremendous impact on the nominees of both parties in 1952 and in my case in 1956." Kennedy, pleading for a big Democratic votes, said the results today will powerfully affect the nominating convention in Los Angeles in July.

The 11th hour flurry of angry charges and sizzling retorts put some political paprika into what has been a largely flavorless campign. It involved Nixon, Kennedy and New Hampshire's Gov. Wesley Powell. Powell is chairman of the Nixon for President Committee in New Hampshire.

Powell set the sparks flying by asserting that Kennedy was "soft toward communism." Kennedy called that a smear and said he believed Nixon would repudiate Powell.

There are five potential significances in the balloting today. They are:

1. The total votes cast for Nixon and Kennedy in their respective primaries—with the 1956 primary as a yardstick.

Powell predicts that Nixon will exceed President Eisenhower's performance. The total cast for Eisenhower four years ago was 56,464. Kennedy declined to estimate his vote. Some of his lieutenants, however, predicted that he would roll up more than 30,000 votes. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) received 21,701 in 1956.

2. The ratio of the totals rolled up by Nixon and Kennedy may demonstrate their respective voting popularity. Republicans normally outnumber Democrats by 2-1 or more in New Hampshire elections.

3. Delegates are running favorable to New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller on the Republican ballot and to Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) in the Democratic contest. Rockefeller did not enter the GOP race. Symington has not de-

Ike's Report To Nation On Tour Awaited Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Back at the White House from an exhausting tour of South America, President Eisenhower toiled today over a report to the people on what he saw and learned.

All major radio and television networks arranged to broadcast the 15-minute report tonight at 7 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Eisenhower gave quick attention, too, to a prime problem here at home—the Senate filibuster over civil rights and the legislative logjam piling up. Republican congressional leaders were called to the White House to talk over maneuvers and prospects.

Because of his speech tonight and other matters, Eisenhower is not planning to hold a news conference this week.

Eisenhower's 15,500-mile swing around Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay ended Monday with his mid-afternoon arrival at nearby Andrews Air Force Base. There were stops going and coming in Puerto Rico.

By all odds, it was the most arduous, punishing trip taken by Eisenhower in his seven years in the presidency. But officials around him figure it was worth the effort in so far as he will be able to tell his fellow Americans that it generated a better understanding and relationship with Latin America at a time when these were needed urgently.

The heat of a South American summer, along with high humidity, took its toll of Eisenhower's strength. Unlike his December visit to 11 nations in Asia, Europe, and North Africa, there were few opportunities for the President to let up.

But for a man of 69, Eisenhower has amazing resilience. He soon bounced back after arriving exhausted in Puerto Rico last Friday.

Burnished by three days of sun and ocean breezes, the chief executive looked fit and jolly when he stepped from his jet airliner.

Senior, Junior Highs Rated First Class In State Report

The Senior High School and Westgate and East Junior Highs have been approved by the State Department of Education as "first grade schools" following an inspection in mid-February, the Board of Education learned Monday night.

Official reports of the visits to the 3 schools between Feb. 16-18 by Gerald R. Norman, school supervisor, were received yesterday by Leo C. Lawrence.

COPIES WERE sent to Supt. Ralph W. Betts and the three principals, George Hargraves, Thomas H. Dixon and Clarence G. Means.

Commenting on the reports, Supt. Betts pointed out he hadn't had much opportunity to study them but added, "I feel pretty good about them. The weaknesses in many cases can be overcome with additional funds."

The reports commended the administration and faculty in many areas but suggested some changes in the curriculum, along with recommending additional educational equipment and some physical changes.

High School — Norman said the school board, administration and faculty should be "highly commended" for the number of achievements since the last visit by a department representative in 1954.

AMONG THE improvements he noted were a broadened curriculum, more realistic pupil-teacher ratio, functional guidance program, several teacher-study groups, numerous new texts and extensive building repairs.

He pointed out Supt. Betts and Principal Hargraves are providing "alert and progressive leadership" and a number of teachers are doing "superior" work.

Norman said he observed many pupils who display "a genuine thirst for knowledge" resulting from stimulating instruction by teachers. Talented pupils are being challenged by an accelerated program.

Abstract concepts and additional reading given capable pupils "are providing an education of which the parents should be justly proud."

HOWEVER, HE also pointed out more teachers should attempt to involve pupils in classroom discussions rather than be the dominating factor. In several areas, teachers and pupils working together could develop a classroom atmosphere pertinent to the subject taught, Norman said.

The practice of excusing boys and girls from physical education classes if they participate in band or orchestra is not approved by the state department, and must be discontinued, the supervisor said.

"Many pupils will be permitted to graduate without the minimum requirement for health and physical education in direct violation of the minimum quantitative requirements for graduation as stated in the Ohio High School Standards."

Authority To Appoint 5th Meter Maid Asked

A request for authority to appoint a fifth "Meter Maid" to enforce parking regulations was filed with Council Monday night by Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver, backing up a suggestion made Feb. 15 by Police Chief Americo Radeschi.

In connection with the request, the director said the administration intends to divide metered streets into zones, making one of the woman attendants responsible for control of parking in each zone.

Of the four women employes, three now are on duty on the streets and one remains in the office at City Hall to receive penalties and answer complaints. But because the women are on a 40-hour week, not more than 2 ever are available for outside duty.

At the time he filed his request, Chief Radeschi said a fifth "Meter Maid" is needed because 100 meters have been added to the system in recent months, boosting the total to about 600. Council gave the director's request to the finance committee, which previously had been given the chief's suggestion.

Mercury's Up But Snow Due

Storm To Spread In State On Wednesday

The cold wave appears to be moderating but more snow is due.

The Ohio weatherman said temperatures will rise the next couple of days as southerly winds return to the state.

The snow is likely with this warming-up, begining in the northwest late tonight and spreading over the state on Wednesday.

Dam 8 at Newell reported a low of 11 degrees this morning, against 5 Monday morning, and it was less cold in the rural sections as Edwin Copeland said at Millport the low today was 3 below zero against 8 below yesterday.

Tonight's low locally will be 11 to 16 after the day's high range of 22 to 27, although the beaming sun may send this up. Yesterday's high was 28.

It was cold in central Ohio this morning.

Columbus reported 2 below zero, which was not only the coldest recorded this winter, but also was the coldest ever recorded there in March. Zanesville had 4 below, Findlay and Toledo 1 below and Mansfield 2 below. Cleveland had 1 below, an all-time March 8 record there.

Fog was reported here last night but it may have been hoar frost from the extreme cold.

The dam said it recorded only a trace of precipitation from the snow squalls yesterday.

Street department crews concentrated today on ashing secondary streets, Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver said. The director said he received requests for ashes this morning from residents of Beechwood, Gardendale, North Side and West End.

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Rhode Island Democrats plan a "92 dinner" in May for Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-RI). Tickets will be $92 a couple. Sen. John F. Green, 92, oldest man ever to serve in Congress, has announced he will not seek re-election.

Would Complete 'Shots'

Health Head Seeks Funds For School Immunizations

Council took under advisement Monday night a request from Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, city health commissioner, for a $1,500 appropriation to complete immunization of first and second graders in East Liverpool schools against polio and four other diseases common to childhood.

The youngsters received the first 2 shots in the series in a 30-day interval at the beginning of the current school term, but must receive a third shot before school closes in June, the physician pointed out. In addition to polio, the treatment immunizes the youngsters against whooping cough, lockjaw, smallpox and diphtheria, he said.

THE HEALTH commissioner pointed out the immunization series is mandatory under a state law that became effective in 1959. In addition, it requires the governing bodies of local subdivisions to provide funds for immunization of children whose parents cannot afford the treatment, he said.

The program at the beginning of the school year was made possible by two appropriations totaling $1,500, Dr. Kuhlman explained. The Health Board purchased

Feeling Against U.S. Soars In Cuba After Herter Rips Castro

It May Get Even Worse, Report Says

U.S. Official Calls Implication In Ship Explosion 'Baseless'

HAVANA (AP) — Anti-American feeling boiled to a new high in Cuba today. It was expected to get even worse in the wake of Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's denunciation of Fidel Castro.

There was no immediate official reaction to Herter's censure, but officials privately predicted U.S. Charge d'Affaires Daniel Braddock might be summoned before Foreign Minister Raul Rao for a similar tongue lashing.

Herter Monday termed as "baseless, erroneous and misleading" Castro's implication that the U.S. government was responsible for the series of explosions that ripped the French munitions ship La Coubre in Havana harbor Friday.

Herter delivered the dressing down personally to the Cuban charge d'affaires, Enrique Patterson, and immediately made the text of his remarks available to newsmen.

The Cuban, clearly upset by the 20-minute session in Herter's office, left the State Department hurriedly. He said he would report Herter's statement to Castro without comment.

Herter wound up his statement by saying: "This government finds itself increasingly obliged to question the good faith of your excellency's government with respect to a desire for improved relations between our governments."

Word of Herter's angry response came from Washington amid these developments:

Officially identified bodies of the La Coubre blast victims mounted to 52. Many dead were still unidentified. At least a score of persons were critically injured.

Don Chapman, of North Bend, Neb., 26 - year - old passenger aboard the freighter, finally flew to Miami after a two-hour airport detention that followed his release from a 72-hour grilling.

The free - lance photographer was taken off a Miami - bound plane minutes before it departed and held at the airport but was released in time to catch the next plane. He told newsmen Cuban officials accused him at the last minute of being in Cuba on Jan. 1, 1959, when Castro took power. He insisted he had never been in Cuba before.

Cuba's 161 sugar mills were ordered to sound their whistles for one hour Monday night in protest against a proposed U.S. bill to restrict Cuba's preferential sugar quota.

Unconfirmed reports said an unidentified plane coming from the north dropped fire bombs on a sugar plantation in Pinar del Rio province, burning more than 3,000 tons of sugar cane.

Top Senators Eye First Test Vote On Rights

Johnson Says He's Appraising Heated Issue Hour By Hour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders today maneuvered cautiously toward the first show of hands—and possibly of strength—in their unabating struggle over civil rights.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic floor leader, said he was appraising the controversy hour by hour. As debate entered the second day of the second week of its grind around the clock, Johnson expressed hope for some vote to clear the air.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), principal Dixie strategist, made it clear civil rights advocates would have to force the issue.

Russell anticipated the initial move would be to table, and thereby kill, one of the 100-plus bills and amendments pending on opposite sides of the issue. A motion to table cannot be debated.

That tactic could be used, perhaps today or Wednesday, on an amendment by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-NC) to reduce drastically

7 Youngsters, Woman Die As Train Hits Car

The automobile, carrying the children and a woman driver, was hurled into Silver Lake, an ice-crusted five-foot-deep pond beside Norton Lane.

Police tentiatively identified the dead as Mrs. Emily Whitaker of Berlin and seven state wards, all Negroes. At least three of the bodies were held by the submerged wreckage in the pond. Skin divers were called.

None of the passengers aboard the train—the New Haven Railroad's No. 97 bound from Springfield, Mass., to New York—was injured.

It was near the home of Mrs. Whitaker and her husband, John, who were cited by the Catholic Transcript in 1957 for their care of foster school children.

In 14 years they had cared for 16 foster children.

Big 3, Bonn Plan Talks To Set Up Summit

LONDON (AP) — Foreign ministers of the Western Big Three and West Germany are reported planning a mid-April meeting in Washington to prepare for the summit talks with the Soviet Union.

Informants Monday night said the American, British, French and West German ministers will meet in an effort to unify their policies on the main topics to be discussed at the parley with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev opening in Paris May 16.

The topics, now being discussed in Washington by working parties from the four Western governments, include:

1. German reunification and the future of West Berlin.

2. East-West relations in general.

Gas Concern Cuts Request For Increase

But Spokesman For Protesting Towns Urges PUC Dismiss

COLUMBUS — Attorneys for Ohio Valley Gas Co. told the Utilities Commission today that a rate increase sought by the company in its Steubenville division will be less than originally announced.

City And Wellsville Solicitors At Hearing

Solicitors of East Liverpool and Wellsville are attending the Ohio Valley Gas Co. hearing at Columbus today, adding their protests with others from the district against the utility's rate request.

Solicitors Joseph W. Cooper and William Bush appeared before the PUC to back up testimony of the rate counsel retained by the communities.

But Attorney John H. Zerbe of Akron, representing the protesting communities of East Liverpool, Steubenville, Martins Ferry, Bellaire, Wellsville, and others, insisted that the emergency application filed by the company is "a created thing," and should be dismissed by the commission in favor of a normal rate application.

Attorney Ralph M. Mahaffey, former chief examiner for the commission and now council for Ohio Valley, said the increase sought by the company now amounts to $998,611 a year, compared with about $1,200,000 formally announced. The Federal Power Commission reduced the rates asked by Ohio Valley's natural gas wholesaler, he said, and this saving would be represented in the amount Ohio Valley is asking.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic floor leader, said he was appraising the controversy hour by hour. As debate entered the second day of the second week of its grind around the clock, Johnson expressed hope for some vote to clear the air.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), principal Dixie strategist, made it clear civil rights advocates would have to force the issue.

Russell anticipated the initial move would be to table, and thereby kill, one of the 100-plus bills and amendments pending on opposite sides of the issue. A motion to table cannot be debated.

That tactic could be used, perhaps today or Wednesday, on an amendment by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-NC) to reduce drastically

The automobile, carrying the children and a woman driver, was hurled into Silver Lake, an ice-crusted five-foot-deep pond beside Norton Lane.

Police tentiatively identified the dead as Mrs. Emily Whitaker of Berlin and seven state wards, all Negroes. At least three of the bodies were held by the submerged wreckage in the pond. Skin divers were called.

None of the passengers aboard the train—the New Haven Railroad's No. 97 bound from Springfield, Mass., to New York—was injured.

It was near the home of Mrs. Whitaker and her husband, John, who were cited by the Catholic Transcript in 1957 for their care of foster school children.

In 14 years they had cared for 16 foster children.

Gas Concern Cuts Request For Increase

But Spokesman For Protesting Towns Urges PUC Dismiss

COLUMBUS — Attorneys for Ohio Valley Gas Co. told the Utilities Commission today that a rate increase sought by the company in its Steubenville division will be less than originally announced.

City And Wellsville Solicitors At Hearing

Solicitors of East Liverpool and Wellsville are attending the Ohio Valley Gas Co. hearing at Columbus today, adding their protests with others from the district against the utility's rate request.

Solicitors Joseph W. Cooper and William Bush appeared before the PUC to back up testimony of the rate counsel retained by the communities.

But Attorney John H. Zerbe of Akron, representing the protesting communities of East Liverpool, Steubenville, Martins Ferry, Bellaire, Wellsville, and others, insisted that the emergency application filed by the company is "a created thing," and should be dismissed by the commission in favor of a normal rate application.

Attorney Ralph M. Mahaffey, former chief examiner for the commission and now council for Ohio Valley, said the increase sought by the company now amounts to $998,611 a year, compared with about $1,200,000 formally announced. The Federal Power Commission reduced the rates asked by Ohio Valley's natural gas wholesaler, he said, and this saving would be represented in the amount Ohio Valley is asking.

W. Fred Laird, company secretary suggested the protesting part-

Would Complete 'Shots'

Health Head Seeks Funds For School Immunizations

Council took under advisement Monday night a request from Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, city health commissioner, for a $1,500 appropriation to complete immunization of first and second graders in East Liverpool schools against polio and four other diseases common to childhood.

The youngsters received the first 2 shots in the series in a 30-day interval at the beginning of the current school term, but must receive a third shot before school closes in June, the physician pointed out. In addition to polio, the treatment immunizes the youngsters against whooping cough, lockjaw, smallpox and diphtheria, he said.

THE HEALTH commissioner pointed out the immunization series is mandatory under a state law that became effective in 1959. In addition, it requires the governing bodies of local subdivisions to provide funds for immunization of children whose parents cannot afford the treatment, he said.

The program at the beginning of the school year was made possible by two appropriations totaling $1,500, Dr. Kuhlman explained. The Health Board purchased

Board Sees $2,000 Savings

Cheaper Fire Insurance Sought

The Board of Education decided Monday night to cancel the present fire insurance on schools and rewrite the policies to take advantage of lower rates.

By canceling the present policies and issuing new ones totaling $5,525,000, including an increase of $117,000 to maintain the 80 per cent co-insurance clause, the board will save slightly more than $2,000 a year in premiums, Supt. Ralph W. Betts reported.

THE BOARD decided to cancel the policies effective March 15 and to write the new policies for a 5-year term with the premiums to be paid annually.

It specified the $117,000 increase will be pro rated among the agencies participating in the insurance.

Supt. Betts said the board will receive a refund of $4,300 from the cancelation. The first - year premium will be roughly $6,300 with the premium each of the remaining 4 years being $5,592.

To carry the same amount of insurance under the old rates, the yearly premium would have been $7,792, the superintendent said.

The change in the insurance program was recommended by the insurance advisory committee headed by S. T. Hilbert.

THE BOARD ALSO decided to award a contract to Wimmer Motor Sales for a new GMC school bus for the 1960-61 term to replace a 10-year-old vehicle.

Wimmer's net bid of $7,000 was $195 higher than an offer from Mike Turk, Inc., to supply a Chevrolet bus for $6,805.

In making the decision, the board pointed out all the busses used to transport students now are GMCs. The GMC has a heavier chassis and larger braking surface, board members said, and also pointed out the excellent repair service for the present school-owned busses.

Wimmer's bid was $7,450 less a $450 trade in on the old bus. The Turk base bid was $7,105 less $300 for the trade in.

Betts said the board will be reimbursed by the State Department of Education for about two-thirds of the cost.

The superintendent said he also has been advised informally that another fire escape will have to be erected this summer at Lincoln School. The escape on the east side will match a similar one erected last year.

IN ITS FIRST meeting since Feb. 1, the board also approved 3 appointments and accepted six resignations.

Betty Lou Virtue was employed as a teacher to replace Ann Louise Kerr, who resigned, and Thelma Andrews, a substitute worker, was named to the cafeteria staff to replace Mrs. Geneva Kelm, who was granted a leave of absence for the balance of the school term.

The resignation of John Karaffa, physical education instructor and former basketball coach, was accepted along with the resignation of Dominic Cascio as basketball coach at East Junior High. However, Cascio will remain as a teacher and football coach.

Louis Venditti, head football coach who inaugurated the wrestling program at the high school, resigned as mat coach.

EIGHT RENTALS were authorized by the board and a previous rental was altered. The organizations, places rented, dates and charges include:

LaCroft Parent-Teacher Association, Memorial Auditorium, Friday and April 15, for a concert by a quartet, custodial fees only; Civic Music Association, Westgate auditorium, Saturday for concert, $50; Girl Scouts, East Junior High auditorium, Saturday, annual sing, $10; Tri-State Tournament, Memorial auditorium, March 28-April 2, for annual basketball tournament, $85 a night plus custodial fees.

Lions Club, Westgate auditorium, April 23, for minstrel show, $50; Ohio Valley Gas Co., Westgate auditorium, March 30-31, for appliance show, $90 a night; and Blue and White Nonpareil Club, Memorial Auditorium, April 5-8, for annual junior basketball tournament, $35 a night, and Lions Club, Westgate library each Friday from March 18 to June 24 for Dale Carnegie course, $100 plus any custodial fees.

THE BOARD ALSO approved a request from the East Liverpool Barbershop Society for a change in plans for its annual Parade of Quartets on March 26.

The show has been oversold and a request was made to hold two shows the same night and skip the so-called "afterglow." Board members were told the society would pay the previous rental of $83, including $15 for a rehearsal, $50 for the Westgate auditorium while the $18 originally charged for use of the cafeteria will be applied on any additional custodial fees.

A letter was received from the County Election Board acknowledging receipt of 3 school levies to be placed on the May 3 ballot and listing the dates the legal advertisements would run.

The board also received a letter from the Dale Carnegie Course sponsors thanking it for allowing use of Westgate library for the first course.

Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk-treasurer, reported receipt of the first quarterly settlement from the state foundation program for $169,417. She reported a balance of $211,966 in all school funds, including $165,784 in the general fund.

THE BOARD ALSO adopted a resolution approving the Potters Bank & Trust Co. exchanging $100,000 in U. S. securities for 3¼ per cent for the same amount of securities at 4⅞ per cent.

Board members also thanked the East Liverpool Teachers Association for a dinner a week ago at which Dr. Gerald Read of Kent State University spoke on "Russian Education."

Supt. Betts also made a brief report on the convention of the American Association of School Administrators which he and Asst. Paul Blair attended in mid-February in Atlantic City.

List Of Active Gambling Places Stirs Enforcement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Liquor Department list of active gambling places has stirred enforcement officers throughout the state into action.

Liquor Director Richard C. Crouch and his enforcement Chief, Ivan W. Smith, received replies from several officials included on the list mailed last week to 480 sheriffs, police chiefs, prosecutors and mayors.

Most of the replies commended the mailing ordered monthly by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle as a part of his statewide gambling cleanup campaign.

Some officials asked additional help but one complained that newspaper publicity made apprehension difficult, Smith reported. None of the answers criticized the list although a prosecutor complained publicly that the list contained information he had supplied in confidence. The governor and Smith denied the complaint.

City Solicitor Leroy Schell of Steubenville, where liquor agents reported 10 gambling spots active, asked the Liquor Department for more help on a crackdown. A similar request came from Police Chief John Ross of Niles where a horse book was reported active.

Liquor agents reporting on gambling activities are able to take action only if the places hold liquor licenses, Smith explained. He said the 16 places listed in the mailed report did not hold liquor permits.

Smith said Schell expressed a desire to prosecute violators but asserted he would need testimony from liquor agents for convictions. The liquor enforcement chief said that posed a problem for his small force.

"If the agents appear in court there, we can count on having all of those connected with gambling in the area as spectators to learn their identity," Smith observed.

The Niles police chief made his appeal for more help by telephone, Smith reported. Smith did not say what he planned to do.

A similar request came from the police chief in Lima where three horse betting places were listed. The chief complained that newspaper publicity in advance of any action he could take made investigation difficult.

Warren was not on the list, the enforcement chief said.

He explained that the list was not intended to be complete and that some information had been withheld. He did not elaborate.

"We feel that this type of activity is shifting in nature and all officials should be apprised generally," Smith said. "The lists are only informative in nature and do not request action," he added.

In announcing the mailing, DiSalle said the gambling lists were confidential but expressed belief that such widespread distribution would produce "leaks" and stir up official action.

Ohio Valley, a subsidiary of Columbia Gas System, took over the Steubenville Division about a year ago from another subsidiary, Manufacturer's Light and Heat Co. It serves about 43,000 customers in Belmont, Columbiana, Harrison, Jefferson and Monroe counties. The utility filed for the rate increase, amounting to about 16 per cent, last Jan. 4 contending that increased costs of furnishing natural gas service make it necessary.

Also represented at the hearing today were industrial concerns from eight communities in the Steubenville division, who have hired attorney Robert J. White of Cincinnati to represent them.

Waitress, 2 Youths Fined For Minor Sale

WEIRTON — A waitress and two young men were fined Monday by Municipal Court Judge Norman J. Ferrari Jr. in connection with sale of alcoholic drinks to a 14-year-old boy.

Patricia Ann Chameilewski of Weirton, a waitress at the Broadview Inn in Weirton Heights, was fined $100 and costs on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Ronald Lyons, 19, of near Colliers and Delbert Fullem, 21, of Burgettstown were fined $50 and costs on a contributing charge and $10 each on a drunk charge. All were released after paying fines.

They were arrested after Weirton police received a complaint that the 14-year-old was intoxicated after drinking in the tavern. He is scheduled for a hearing in Juvenile Court Wednesday at 10 a. m.

4 Red Soldiers Saved After 49 Days Adrift

The Defense Department announced today the carrier Kearsarge picked the men up about 11 p.m. EST, Sunday about 1,000 miles west-northwest of Midway Island.

Weak and emaciated, the Russians were in a 50-foot landing craft, similar to the U. S. Navy's LCM.

School 'Shot' Funds Asked

enough vaccine for 1,800 doses, selling the unused vials to the Wellsville Board of Health at cost, he explained. Funds not required for the program were turned back to the general fund at the end of 1959, so a new appropriation is required, he said.

Council referred the request for funds to its finance committee.

In other business, Council made arrangements for two future meetings and discussed a third.

An invitation was received for councilmen to attend the first 1960 meeting of the City Planning Commission Monday night at 7:30 in the office of Mayor Bert H. Goodballet. The invitation was extended in a letter from Don Eckert, chairman of the commission.

PRESIDENT CHARLES N. Edwards asked the Council planning committee to attend, if possible, along with any other members who have time available. The planning committee is comprised of John Melvin, Clinton R. Seevers and John F. Kelly.

Council also set a meeting Thursday, March 17, at 7:30 p. m. to confer with E. B. Laughlin, chairman of a city employes' hospitalization insurance committee, to renew a discussion that began last fall.

Edwards said Laughlin requested the meeting to present representatives of insurance concerns with proposals they have drafted for providing coverage for city employes and their dependents. The discussion dates back to late 1959, when employes requested the city to pay a share of their premiums for hospital insurance.

EDWARDS SAID he also has received a letter from firemen requesting a meeting with Council to discuss wages. As a similar request is expected from the police department, Council indicated it may arrange to meet with spokesmen for the two departments on the same night. Edwards said a date for the meeting with firemen probably will be set at Council's next session March 21.

Three bills against the city were referred to the claims committee for investigation.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Palmer, 310-312 Needham St., asked reimbursement for $14 they said they paid a plumber in mid-February to unstop the sewer line from their home to the main line, learning later that the fault was in the city's line.

"The city insisted our sewer was clogged, but this was incorrect," the Palmers said in their letter.

Ronald Bolton, 315 Mulberry St., filed a claim for a total of $61.16 as a result of a clogged sewer that allowed water to enter the cellar of his home Feb. 17. Bolton said the fault at first was believed to be in his sewer, but later it was discovered the main line was clogged. He asked $41 for a plumbers' bill and $21 for loss of a day's wages after working all night on the stoppage.

CHARLES McGRAW Jr., 2509 Woodbine Ave., filed a claim for $36, asserting the paint on his auto was damaged Feb. 13 on St. Clair Ave. by ashes flying from a city truck that was cindering the street.

Councilman Clifford J. Cooper reported a request for removal of a tree at Pennsylvania Ave. Ext. and Putnam St. A family in the neighborhood complained that the tree is on city property and its limbs have rubbed the insulation off the electric and telephone wires leading to the home, Cooper said.

For lack of enough votes for immediate passage, Council deferred scheduled action on a resolution authorizing Mayor Goodballet to become a member of the newly-reactivated Columbiana County Mayors' Association. Councilmen Seevers and Kelly were excused. The meeting opened with invocation by Edwards.

the penalties set forth in the Eisenhower administration measure for trying to interfere with court rulings on school integration.

As introduced the measure would provide penalties up to $10,000 fine or two years in jail or both for violations. Ervin purposes to cut these limits to a $1,000 fine or one year in jail or both.

Russell said he understood Northern senators of both parties were considering a similar motion on a different proposal. This one would empower the attorney general to initiate court action in any alleged violation of an individual's civil rights.

Seeing no sign of a break, Russell added: "I don't know when they plan it—this week or next."

How much bearing a vote on either question would have on the final showdown was open to dispute.

Republicans, encouraged by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, sampled opinion Monday among their own senators on stopping the oratory. They found it couldn't be done at present. Johnson is similarly convinced. He appears to want voting rights legislation passed without choking off debate.

Two-thirds of the senators voting would have to support a cloture motion to make it effective. A maximum of 50 could be obtained now, according to reports on an informal canvass. Sixty-seven would be needed if all senators voted.

Man Pays $46 On 16 Tickets

Warned by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff that he barely escaped jail for contempt of court in failing to appear for a hearing Monday morning, Buddy J. Watson,, 622 Jackson St., drew fines and costs totaling $46 today for ignoring 16 parking tickets issued within the last year.

Watson appeared in court voluntarily today after learning the judge had issued a bench warrant for his arrest for non-appearance yesterday morning. He had posted a $31 bond after being served with a "Meter Maid" warrant.

"Posting of bond is merely to secure your appearance for trial," Judge Chertoff told Watson. "The court feels your action yesterday was not a wilful violation, otherwise the court would be sorely tempted to put you in jail for contempt. With 16 tickets, it seems you have been flaunting the law."

"I thought when you posted bond you didn't have to appear," Watson said after the court asked an explanation for his failure to appear yesterday.

After Watson pleaded guilty, the judge imposed a fine of $40 and $6 costs. The judge allowed the $31 bond which was forfeited yesterday to apply against the penalty, but Watson was required to pay the $15 difference.

WEIRTON — A waitress and two young men were fined Monday by Municipal Court Judge Norman J. Ferrari Jr. in connection with sale of alcoholic drinks to a 14-year-old boy.

Patricia Ann Chamellewski of Weirton, a waitress at the Broadview Inn in Weirton Heights, was fined $100 and costs on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Ronald Lyons, 19, of near Colliers and Delbert Fullem, 21, of Burgettstown were fined $50 and costs on a contributing charge and $10 each on a drunk charge. All were released after paying fines.

They were arrested after Weirton police received a complaint that the 14-year-old was intoxicated after drinking in the tavern. He is scheduled for a hearing in Juvenile Court Wednesday at 10 a. m.

4 Red Soldiers Saved After 49 Days Adrift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Russian soldiers adrift for 49 days in a small landing craft have been rescued in mid-Pacific by a U. S. Navy carrier.

The Defense Department announced today the carrier Kearsarge picked the men up about 11 p.m. EST, Sunday about 1,000 miles west-northwest of Midway Island.

Weak and emaciated, the Russians were in a 50-foot landing craft, similar to the U. S. Navy's LCM.

To Open Golf Course

DOVER, Ohio (AP)—Dr. John Hawk, president of the Hidden Valley Golf Corp., said that the semi-private, 18-hole course will be opened this spring and that Glen Hudson, 35, of the Coshocton Country Club has been hired as professional. Hawk estimated the course, now under construction, will cost $344,000.

enough vaccine for 1,800 doses, selling the unused vials to the Wellsville Board of Health at cost, he explained. Funds not required for the program were turned back to the general fund at the end of 1959, so a new appropriation is required, he said.

Council referred the request for funds to its finance committee.

In other business, Council made arrangements for two future meetings and discussed a third.

An invitation was received for councilmen to attend the first 1960 meeting of the City Planning Commission Monday night at 7:30 in the office of Mayor Bert H. Goodballet. The invitation was extended in a letter from Don Eckert, chairman of the commission.

PRESIDENT CHARLES N. Edwards asked the Council planning committee to attend, if possible, along with any other members who have time available. The planning committee is comprised of John Melvin, Clinton R. Seevers and John F. Kelly.

Council also set a meeting Thursday, March 17, at 7:30 p. m. to confer with E. B. Laughlin, chairman of a city employes' hospitalization insurance committee, to renew a discussion that began last fall.

Edwards said Laughlin requested the meeting to present representatives of insurance concerns with proposals they have drafted for providing coverage for city employes and their dependents. The discussion dates back to late 1959, when employes requested the city to pay a share of their premiums for hospital insurance.

EDWARDS SAID he also has received a letter from firemen requesting a meeting with Council to discuss wages. As a similar request is expected from the police department, Council indicated it may arrange to meet with spokesmen for the two departments on the same night. Edwards said a date for the meeting with firemen probably will be set at Council's next session March 21.

Three bills against the city were referred to the claims committee for investigation.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Palmer, 310-312 Needham St., asked reimbursement for $14 they said they paid a plumber in mid-February to unstop the sewer line from their home to the main line, learning later that the fault was in the city's line.

"The city insisted our sewer was clogged, but this was incorrect," the Palmers said in their letter.

Ronald Bolton, 315 Mulberry St., filed a claim for a total of $61.16 as a result of a clogged sewer that allowed water to enter the cellar of his home Feb. 17. Bolton said the fault at first was believed to be in his sewer, but later it was discovered the main line was clogged. He asked $41 for a plumbers' bill and $21 for loss of a day's wages after working all night on the stoppage.

CHARLES McGRAW Jr., 2509 Woodbine Ave., filed a claim for $36, asserting the paint on his auto was damaged Feb. 13 on St. Clair Ave. by ashes flying from a city truck that was cindering the street.

Councilman Clifford J. Cooper reported a request for removal of a tree at Pennsylvania Ave. Ext. and Putnam St. A family in the neighborhood complained that the tree is on city property and its limbs have rubbed the insulation off the electric and telephone wires leading to the home, Cooper said.

For lack of enough votes for immediate passage, Council deferred scheduled action on a resolution authorizing Mayor Goodballet to become a member of the newly-reactivated Columbiana County Mayors' Association. Councilmen Seevers and Kelly were excused. The meeting opened with invocation by Edwards.

the penalties set forth in the Eisenhower administration measure for trying to interfere with court rulings on school integration.

As introduced the measure would provide penalties up to $10,000 fine or two years in jail or both for violations. Ervin purposes to cut these limits to a $1,000 fine or one year in jail or both.

Russell said he understood Northern senators of both parties were considering a similar motion on a different proposal. This one would empower the attorney general to initiate court action in any alleged violation of an individual's civil rights.

Seeing no sign of a break, Russell added: "I don't know when they plan it—this week or next."

How much bearing a vote on either question would have on the final showdown was open to dispute.

Republicans, encouraged by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, sampled opinion Monday among their own senators on stopping the oratory. They found it couldn't be done at present. Johnson is similarly convinced. He appears to want voting rights legislation passed without choking off debate.

Two-thirds of the senators voting would have to support a cloture motion to make it effective. A maximum of 50 could be obtained now, according to reports on an informal canvass. Sixty-seven would be needed if all senators voted.

Man Pays $46 On 16 Tickets

Warned by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff that he barely escaped jail for contempt of court in failing to appear for a hearing Monday morning, Buddy J. Watson, 622 Jackson St., drew fines and costs totaling $46 today for ignoring 16 parking tickets issued within the last year.

Watson appeared in court voluntarily today after learning the judge had issued a bench warrant for his arrest for non-appearance yesterday morning. He had posted a $31 bond after being served with a "Meter Maid" warrant.

"Posting of bond is merely to secure your appearance for trial," Judge Chertoff told Watson. "The court feels your action yesterday was not a wilful violation, otherwise the court would be sorely tempted to put you in jail for contempt. With 16 tickets, it seems you have been flaunting the law."

"I thought when you posted bond you didn't have to appear," Watson said after the court asked an explanation for his failure to appear yesterday.

After Watson pleaded guilty, the judge imposed a fine of $40 and $6 costs. The judge allowed the $31 bond which was forfeited yesterday to apply against the penalty, but Watson was required to pay the $15 difference.

A Salute To The Girl Scouts

If Girl Scouts look more alert; if their step is springier; if their uniforms are sharper, there's a reason. This is their week, a time set aside to pay special tribute to a group of youngsters and adult leaders who mean so much to the American way of life.

The good work the Scouts perform goes on 52 weeks of the year, but from now through Saturday they will come in for special attention.

East Liverpool and the immediate area has been blessed with a Girl Scout program which has expanded with the constantly-mounting demands.

Through their various activities, the girls acquire the wholesome fundamentals which make them valuable assets to their community, to their home and to their church. From their associations in Scouting they derive the elements of citizenship which will prove of so great a value later in life.

An integral part of any Scouting program are the adult leaders and the sponsors who keep the wheels rolling in the best interests of the youngsters.

Many such dedicated people have done their part over the years here and in the district. The worthwhile Girl Scout organizations now functioning are direct evidence of the energy they have put into the program.

Mr. Butler Shows Poor Taste

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler probably will live to rue the day he tried to blame President Eisenhower personally for the deaths of a group of Navy bandsmen in an airplane collision over Rio de Janeiro.

In a political debate recently, Mr. Butler questioned the Chief Executive's right to request the band's presence at an official dinner during his Latin American tour and said Mr. Eisenhower "has something to answer for" to the families of the dead sailors.

Reports of the President's reaction to the news of the tragedy indicated that he does indeed feel a personal involvement. But this would stem from the human sympathy by which men share each other's sorrows rather than from any error in the President's official responsibility for the bandsmens presence on the ill-fated airplane.

The right of the Commander-in-Chief to request the performance at an official function of an armed forces band is undeniable. That is one of the reasons for the existence of such units in every branch of our military services. It is done all the time, and it is as feasible that a busload of bandsmen could be killed in a traffic accident en route to a Washington reception as it is that a plane load of them could be killed en route to a foreign capital.

The Navy band was not in Latin America solely for the President's tour. It was there as part of a cultural exchange program, and it seems only logical that since it was in the neighborhood it should be called upon to help Mr. Eisenhower entertain his Brazilian hosts.

As has been pointed out repeatedly since the tragic accident, service bands travel all over the world. Every time one of them boards a ship, a plane, a bus or a train, there is a risk involved. It is ridiculous and cruel to charge — from hindsight—that the rare accident could have been averted if the official orders to travel had not been issued.

Mr. Butler has done neither himself nor his party a service in stooping to the base position of trying to make political hay out of a tragic situation. It is to be hoped that his ill-considered statement is not the keynote of the kind of presidential campaign he plans to wage this year.

Sense Of Duty

The rival party slates for Chester's primary election April 5 reflect both the commendable and the questionable aspects of politics. To be commended are those who have filed for office. To be questioned is the lack of contests in several instances.

The Democrats have no candidates for four of the Council posts and the Republicans have no contests in four other offices.

Elections are designed to provide voters with a free choice of leaders and, if meeting their purpose to the fullest, should offer a variety of candidates reflecting different policies or ideas.

But a $5-a-meeting Council job, with its thankless drudgery and its countless complaints, holds little appeal except to a few. While it would have been desirable for more to be seeking office, those who have entered the various races deserve a pat on the back—win or lose—for their readiness to assume a burden too many others refuse to shoulder.

Necessity Still Mother Of Invention

An account of a solution for the transportation problem in San Francisco in The Wall Street Journal suggests that private ingenuity is a better bet than the grandiose proposals of experts.

The San Franciscans involved are commuters who had been spending an hour and a half a day and more to get to their jobs and an equal time to get home. Public transportation was theoretically feasible, but in practice it was unsatisfactory. Bus lines in some cases were so far away the commuters had to drive or be driven to and from bus stops. And the price was high.

They had tried car pools, with the usual stresses and strains of that method of pooling costs. Many of them owned only one car. When it was their turn to drive, their wives had no way to get where they wanted to go. Like millions of commuters in dozens of sprawling metropolitan areas, they were looking for a better way.

They think they may have found it. They now lease a type of small European-made bus and divide the cost of its rental and operation among all members of the riding group. They take turns driving, and the driver takes the bus home at the end of his trip.

All passengers are picked up at their homes. The cost of their shared transportation is less than anything else they had tried, and they get to and from work in less time. The bus is easy to park. Its operating cost is low. The owner of the leasing service is satisfied because this kind of use causes less maintenance cost than is customary when vehicles are leased for short-term use by many different drivers.

In the meantime, all kinds of ponderous plans are being formulated by transportation experts to do what private citizens and private enterprise are doing for themselves in San Francisco because they couldn't wait for any more master plans.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Bob Moses, who wears more hats than Hedda Hopper, will run the New York World's Fair. This guarantees the show will be as exciting during the preliminaries as after the opening.

The publicity problem is solved. Get citizens to write letters of criticism and Bob's replies will make the headlines. In picking Moses the World's Fair is getting atomic energy, fast takeoff, packaged vitality and a three-year supply of fireworks.

He is a combination of Samson, Billy Rose, Jules Verne, Grover Whalen, Haroun-al-Rashid, Henry Kaiser, King Canute, Conrad Hilton and the fellow who built the Hanging Gardens of Babylon. But unless he is allowed $5,000 a year for tranquilizers he will become a hotter World's Fair attraction than the other exhibits. He can make Disneyland run second to Moses Land.

Robert is a wonder and could deserve a billing as "The Phenomenal Go-Go-Go Man." "Bobbie, the Sleepless Wonder," or "The World's Greatest Job-Defying Man; Part Human, Part Work Elephant, Part Engine and Part Magician."

Moses thinks he is a victim of unemployment any time he is not taking on three or four jobs at once.

Symbol of the last World's Fair was Trylon and Perisphere. Symbol of this one could be Fountain Pen and Finger of Scorn. Mr. Moses is the world's best answer to "They said it couldn't be done." He will get $100,000 a year at an age when ordinary mortals are wondering that to do for a hobby. And he is worth it. Our bet is that with his color, gusto and dynamism the World's Fair will get that much money backin publicity before he has been on the job three months.

He is one of the few men people like to see blow his stack. Half-aroused he can be a bigger attraction than most men 100 per cent angry. Let's have among fair buildings a Palace of Fiery Phrases, a Temple of Outer Space Adjectives and a huge building known as the "Dear Sir, You Cur, Auditorium." Fun is fun and it's a major asset to any World's Fair.

"If you had been wading in a trout stream two hours you'd look tired," said Mr. Hagerty in replying to questions about Ike's appearance. This shows Mr. Hagerty is no fisherman. Wading in a trout stream, unless it's in a raging current, is the most leisurely of activities and is recommended by doctors. One round of golf can tucker a man out more than a week in a brook.

New York State Tax Office says that any money the kids earn for baby-sitting, paper-peddling, etc., becomes part of Pop's income and that tax must be paid on it. Ya mean a parent doesn't have trouble enough with the moppets without checking on their odd jobs!

The Monkey On His Back

More Grand Juries Probe Teamsters

By Victor Riesel

Federal agents are tired of playing tag with Jimmy Hoffa and the "boys." Hoffa's so good at games, the government would like to try him at monopoly. The Justice Department's Anti-Trust Division has three grand juries probing possible Teamsters' restraint of trade, it can now be revealed.

Victor Riesel

These investigating units are sitting in New York, Detroit and Omaha. They are quite different from the four other grand juries operating under the Justice Department's Criminal Division. This makes a total of seven including one little observed jury which is looking into the hundreds of telephone calls and other records of Hoffa's activity at Washington's Hotel Woodner.

Most of the documents have been destroyed and the Justice Department wants to know who got rid of them and why and at whose order.

The Woodner has been Hoffa's castle away from home — a hotel suite with a fully equipped and publicized kitchen in which the short order, and frequently short tempered cook has whipped up many a breakfast with his own hands for his gourmet friends.

HOFFA IS NOT overly concerned by the criminal grand juries. He has beaten them so often. What disturbs him more are the three anti-trust probes. It is little known but Hoffa was once convicted of anti-trust violation in the waste handlers' field. That was in 1941. It cost him $1,000 fine.

Anti-trust laws can be more potent than the criminal code. Conviction under the monopoly and anti-trust statues can result in heavy fines up to $50,000 on each count and-or a year in jail on each point. Conviction can also mean actual dissolution of a union local and a ruling from the bench that its officials may not remain in the field of labor.

But Jimmy Hoffa is a daring young man almost literally on a flying trapeze. He has flown several hundred thousand miles in everything from a single-pilot, single-motored job to the big jets since September 1957, in pursuit of his one big dream — a national union of everything that flies, moves on wheels or sails the seas.

Hoffa believes in the personal touch and handshakes and thus has become the most traveled union chief in history.

We crossed each other's path in Iowa the other week. There he announced that he had moved into the railroads. He spoke mysteriously of his support among those transport workers.

Part of this optimism, it can be reported, is based on his efforts to infiltrate the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. This union recently finished its three-million-dollar marathon convention in Cleveland's Music Hall.

DURING THAT SERIES of sessions, which ran from Jan. 4 to Feb. 18, Hoffa had his own representatives working out of hotel suites near the convention hall.

Hoffa's most important contact man was a Teamsters leader from Nebraska. This official set up unofficial — and what he thought was secret — headquarters in the Hotel Auditorium. This is just across from the meeting hall.

The Nebraska Teamster was there for more than a week. To his suite after each day's session and during the lunch hour, came some Railroad Trainmen delegates.

How successful Hoffa's agent was only he and Hoffa know. The Rail Brotherhood's president, William Parker Kennedy, wanted nothing to do with Hoffa. Two years ago Kennedy had rejected the Teamsters bid to join a Conference on Transportation Unity.

However, Hoffa continues his drive for support for the conference. If ever the bold Teamster chief could build such unity, he could make good his plans for all transport contracts to expire on a common date on land, on sea and in the air.

The government is watching this closely. It wants to move in long before anyone has the power to name the day, the nation should stand still.

Snow Wonder

By Truman Twill

Like the snow blower for the bottom of automobile. Optional equipment. Very popular for snowy climates. Sucks up all snow from pavement and blows it out through hole in roof.

No one ever needs to get stuck again with Doc Twill's high velocity snow blower. Can be installed on used cars at any filling station in 15 minutes. Runs an hour on gallon of gas. Lasts forever.

Then there's the built-in hydraulic jacks for all four wheels. Push-button control. Car stuck on ice? Car stuck against the curb? Push a button and there you are — two feet in air. Handy-dandy feature that can be hooked up in connection with Doc Twill's inside-out tire sanders.

This amazing electronic device releases fine sand through microscopic openings in tire, itself. Sand particles lie inert on interior of casing until released by this amazing new device, available only on most expensive Italian custom-builts until Twill went to work on homegrown product.

Also retractable scoop. Built into grillwork. Closest observer cannot detect. In case snowdrift looms ahead, simple mechanism with manual controls releases snowblade of professional design to clear pavement ahead without use of chains or bulky paraphnernalia.

Be the first in your neighborhood to own a Twillscoop. Mr. Alex Murfee, Bangor, Me., writes: "In one snowy weekend here I paid for my new Twillscoop and am looking forward to many happy years with this device."

Another boon to mankind is my revolving windshield. Does frost and mist trouble you on cold mornings? Why be half blind waiting for windshield to clear up? Why risk offending others with a spray-spattered peephole while traveling behind trucks?

Amazing new windshield revolves — that's right, "revolves"—in continuous detergent bath that keeps it sparkling clean. Mrs. G. of Southern Fuzz, Ill., astonishes her friends with this amazing improvement. She invites them to stick their heads out and look around. They do. They think it's like a television commercial for glass so clear you can't see it — that there's no glass there. "Crrunch!" "Ho, ho," says Mrs. G., warning them they have ridden with her at their own risk.

Things also moving well with the seat warmer. Operates two ways. Concealed fan forces cool air through driver's - seat cushion in warm weather and hot air in cold weather. Nothing to catch fire or get out of order. Especially popular with salesmen. Obtainable only from manufacturer. If not satisfied, send device and car attached back to us and money will be refunded minus charge for handling. Slightly higher west of Hudson River.

Eyeglass defroster. Thousands have waited for this handy accessory. Can be installed with screwdriver and pliers. Runs off car blower. Roll - up tube blows warm air over eyeglasses that mist over when wearer enters car. Guaranteed to work in 30 seconds or money back.

Why risk a life when $5 will bring you at our expense this boon to motoring. Use it for a week. If not satisfied, write complaint in 500 words or less on 8x12 plain paper containing watermark "Crystal Mountain" in magentic ink and you may be eligible for attractive prizes.

These are old inventions that didn't seem worth developing until recently. By the time this winter is over, these will be only the beginning of what everybody will need to make winter easier to bear.

Lots of people think the Democratic national convention will start in July — but actually it's going on now. The lining-up of delegations is invisible to the naked eye as leader after leader makes promises that on such and such a ballot he will transfer his support to another candidate.

David Lawrence

Today, on the basis of precedent, it looks like Sen. John Kennedy is well on the way to getting the nomination. His strength is, of course, often discounted, mostly by those who favor other candidates.

The situation very much resembles the contest for the Republican nomination that Herber Hoover won in 1928.

Almost everybody at the time thought that Mr. Hoover had substantial strength but the professionals in the political ranks didn't think he could get anything like a majority of the delegates.

In fact, leaders of the big organizations in the East who had dominated the 1920 and 1924 Republican conventions made their plans on the theory that someone who hadn't been as prominent in the public eye as Mr. Hoover could easily take the prize at the 1928 convention.

But the day the conclave opened at Kansas City the professionals got a shock. They learned that the Hoover forces really had lined up a majority of delegates and it took only a single ballot to assure selection of a man who had never before held elective office.

His service, however, as secretary of commerce for eight years under Republican administrations and for two years as food administrator under a Democratic administration had made him widely known.

TODAY SEN. KENNEDY appears to have more behind - the-scenes strength in politics than he is generally credited with having by his opponents.

They concede he will get perhaps 500 delegates, but will fall short of the 761 needed for a majority.

So there is, as usual, talk of a "compromise" candidate. This time the two names most frequently mentioned for the "compromise" are Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri and former Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois. The assumption is that either might be chosen if a deadlock ensues.

But who is to bring about the "deadlock"?

While Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas together have substantial strength, it is difficult at this writing to see how the combination of these two candidates can be enough to roll up the 761 votes needed to keep the nomination away from the Massachusetts senator.

That's why talk of "compromise" candidates seems a little premature. Indeed, in recent weeks there has been a tendency in some quarters to write off Adlai Stevenson altogether and some of his admirers have begun to get behind other candidates.

This doesn't mean, however, that they wouldn't return to Stevenson if there's a deadlock.

Actually those who would like to see Stevenson nominated would prefer at this stage of the game to have all the first-choice votes allocated publicly to other candidates so that, if a deadlock occurs, there will be freedom from entanglements and a readiness on the part of the minority blocs to swing to the man who was the nominee of the party in 1952 and 1956.

IT TAKES LOTS of money and lots of organization strength to win any presidential nomination unless a real deadlock ensues, when a "compromise" candidate can cash in on the work already done by the other candidates.

As this writer looks back on the 12 presidential campaigns he has covered, it can be observed that, while in some instances where a president is up for re-election there is little preconvention activity.

Most of the time the candidate who wins the nomination is one whose friends have spent the money or taken the time to line up delegates in the preconvention campaign.

Right now, therefore — in the next 4½ months — it may be said that the 1960 presidential contest on the Democratic side is being decided.

At the moment Sen. Kennedy is way ahead. He has the organization, the strategy, the financing and the backing of a substantial number of professional politicians.

The question now is not so much whether he will win but how is he going to be blocked — if, indeed, it isn't too late for anyone to accomplish that purpose.

Should the "Stop Kennedy" movement be successful and the delegates turn toward a "compromise," the best bet still is Adlai Stevenson.

While it is being said that he was beaten twice, it is also being emphasized that he would run against Nixon this time — not against Eisenhower.

THOUGH LOSING in 1952, Stevenson got more votes than any successful Democratic candidate in history except one and more than any Republican winner up to that time. He is truly the second choice today of many of the professional politicians who worked with him in two campaigns. He, therefore, has a head start on Sen. Symington.

The Missouri senator doesn't have the organization strength that Stevenson has and isn't as well known at the "grass roots" level among the local politicians as is the man who has twice campaigned actively in most of the states of the Union.

To sum up, this writer believes that Sen. Kennedy is well out in front today and is likely to win the nomination and that, if the Massachusetts senator is blocked, the "compromise" candidate will be Adlai Stevenson.

Pace Was Too Fast

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower took a physical beating on his South American trip, and showed it at times. He is 69. Is he going to put himself through the wringer again this year with a trip to the Soviet Union perhaps in June?

It's a question which no doubt will get plenty of consideration by his doctors and advisers.

Somebody goofed on this trip. An exploratory party, which preceded Eisenhower to South America to make arrangements, decided it was too hot and strenuous for Mrs. Eisenhower to undertake. So she stayed home.

But the schedule worked out for the President was so terribly fast, and in such overpowering heat, that even the reporters and aides who accompanied him felt the fatigue, too.

In December Eisenhower visited Asia, Europe and North Africa. The pace was slower, the heat less intense. He stood up well.

In mid-May he has to go to Geneva for a summit meeting. Any trip to the Soviet Union would have to follow that.

Four such trips in seven months time would be tough on anyone, but particularly on a man of Eisenhower's age who in five years has had a heart attack, an intestinal operation and a slight stroke.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty, always anxious to put the best possible light on Eisenhower's activities, insisted Eisenhower was feeling fine throughout his South American journey.

But there were times when the President looked worn out to reporters with him.

After Eisenhower's return here Monday Marvin Arrowsmith, Associated Press White House reporter who has covered Eisenhower since 1953, reported that some of those who accompanied Eisenhower knew for a fact that his doctors were deeply concerned at several points on the tour.

Arrowsmith said it is doubtful the President's doctors would have given a go-ahead for his South American journey if they could have foreseen how it exhausted him at times. A slower pace with more rest would have been recommended, he said.

Otter Comes Back

The sea otter, whose lustrous fur was prized by tsar and mandarin, is struggling back from a brush with extinction.

The United States Fish and Wildlife Service reported recently that the sea otter population has increased to about 30,000 along the coasts of the Aleutian Islands, Alaska and California. Other colonies live off the Kurile and Pribilof Islands.

The sea otter's downfall began in 1792 when Russian adventurers started to explore and exploit the rich but forbidding waters around the Pribilofs.

The first sea otter skins sent back to Russia set off a stampede by fur hunters. Sable, hitherto favored by tsars and noblemen, was becoming scarce and the velvety, soft, dense fur of the otter was a superior substitute. Choice skins sold for as much as $2,500 each. One cargo of the pelts was valued at more than $1,000,000.

The meek marine mammals were hunted relentlessly. In one year, more than 50,000 pelts were taken. The Russians moved southward to California in search of the dwindling otters.

A Salute To The Girl Scouts

If Girl Scouts look more alert; if their step is springier; if their uniforms are sharper, there's a reason. This is their week, a time set aside to pay special tribute to a group of youngsters and adult leaders who mean so much to the American way of life.

The good work the Scouts perform goes on 52 weeks of the year, but from now through Saturday they will come in for special attention.

East Liverpool and the immediate area has been blessed with a Girl Scout program which has expanded with the constantly-mounting demands.

Through their various activities, the girls acquire the wholesome fundamentals which make them valuable assets to their community, to their home and to their church. From their associations in Scouting they derive the elements of citizenship which will prove of so great a value later in life.

An integral part of any Scouting program are the adult leaders and the sponsors who keep the wheels rolling in the best interests of the youngsters.

Many such dedicated people have done their part over the years here and in the district. The worthwhile Girl Scout organizations now functioning are direct evidence of the energy they have put into the program.

Mr. Butler Shows Poor Taste

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler probably will live to rue the day he tried to blame President Eisenhower personally for the deaths of a group of Navy bandsmen in an airplane collision over Rio de Janeiro.

In a political debate recently, Mr. Butler questioned the Chief Executive's right to request the band's presence at an official dinner during his Latin American tour and said Mr. Eisenhower "has something to answer for" to the families of the dead sailors.

Reports of the President's reaction to the news of the tragedy indicated that he does indeed feel a personal involvement. But this would stem from the human sympathy by which men share each other's sorrows rather than from any error in the President's official responsibility for the bandsmens presence on the ill-fated airplane.

The right of the Commander-in-Chief to request the performance at an official function of an armed forces band is undeniable. That is one of the reasons for the existence of such units in every branch of our military services. It is done, all the time, and it is as feasible that a busload of bandsmen could be killed in a traffic accident en route to a Washington reception as it is that a plane load of them could be killed en route to a foreign capital.

The Navy band was not in Latin America solely for the President's tour. It was there as part of a cultural exchange program, and it seems only logical that since it was in the neighborhood it should be called upon to help Mr. Eisenhower entertain his Brazilian hosts.

As has been pointed out repeatedly since the tragic accident, service bands travel all over the world. Every time one of them boards a ship, a plane, a bus or a train, there is a risk involved. It is ridiculous and cruel to charge — from hindsight—that the rare accident could have been averted if the official orders to travel had not been issued.

Mr. Butler has done neither himself nor his party a service in stooping to the base position of trying to make political hay out of a tragic situation. It is to be hoped that his ill-considered statement is not the keynote of the kind of presidential campaign he plans to wage this year.

Sense Of Duty

The rival party slates for Chester's primary election April 5 reflect both the commendable and the questionable aspects of politics. To be commended are those who have filed for office. To be questioned is the lack of contests in several instances.

The Democrats have no candidates for four of the Council posts and the Republicans have no contests in four other offices.

Elections are designed to provide voters with a free choice of leaders and, if meeting their purpose to the fullest, should offer a variety of candidates reflecting different policies or ideas.

But a $5-a-meeting Council job, with its thankless drudgery and its countless complaints, holds little appeal except to a few. While it would have been desirable for more to be seeking office, those who have entered the various races deserve a pat on the back—win or lose—for their readiness to assume a burden too many others refuse to shoulder.

Necessity Still Mother Of Invention

An account of a solution for the transportation problem in San Francisco in The Wall Street Journal suggests that private ingenuity is a better bet than the grandiose proposals of experts.

The San Franciscans involved are commuters who had been spending an hour and a half a day and more to get to their jobs and an equal time to get home. Public transportation was theoretically feasible, but in practice it was unsatisfactory. Bus lines in some cases were so far away the commuters had to drive or be driven to and from bus stops. And the price was high.

They had tried car pools, with the usual stresses and strains of that method of pooling costs. Many of them owned only one car. When it was their turn to drive, their wives had no way to get where they wanted to go. Like millions of commuters in dozens of sprawling metropolitan areas, they were looking for a better way.

They think they may have found it. They now lease a type of small European-made bus and divide the cost of its rental and operation among all members of the riding group. They take turns driving, and the driver takes the bus home at the end of his trip.

All passengers are picked up at their homes. The cost of their shared transportation is less than anything else they had tried, and they get to and from work in less time. The bus is easy to park. Its operating cost is low. The owner of the leasing service is satisfied because this kind of use causes less maintenance cost than is customary when vehicles are leased for short-term use by many different drivers.

In the meantime, all kinds of ponderous plans are being formulated by transportation experts to do what private citizens and private enterprise are doing for themselves in San Francisco because they couldn't wait for any more master plans.

The Once Over

Bob Moses, who wears more hats than Hedda Hopper, will run the New York World's Fair. This guarantees the show will be as exciting during the preliminaries as after the opening.

The publicity problem is solved. Get citizens to write letters of criticism and Bob's replies will make the headlines. In picking Moses the World's Fair is getting atomic energy, fast takeoff, packaged vitality and a three-year supply of fireworks.

He is a combination of Samson, Billy Rose, Jules Verne, Grover Whalen, Haroun-al-Rashid, Henry Kaiser, King Canute, Conrad Hilton and the fellow who built the Hanging Gardens of Babylon. But unless he is allowed $5,000 a year for tranquilizers he will become a hotter World's Fair attraction than the other exhibits. He can make Disneyland run second to Moses Land.

Robert is a wonder and could deserve a billing as "The Phenomenal Go-Go-Go Man." "Bobbie, the Sleepless Wonder," or "The World's Greatest Job-Defying Man; Part Human, Part Work Elephant, Part Engine and Part Magician."

Moses thinks he is a victim of unemployment any time he is not taking on three or four jobs at once.

Symbol of the last World's Fair was Trylon and Perisphere. Symbol of this one could be Fountain Pen and Finger of Scorn. Mr. Moses is the world's best answer to "They said it couldn't be done." He will get $100,000 a year at an age when ordinary mortals are wondering that to do for a hobby. And he is worth it. Our bet is that with his color, gusto and dynamism the World's Fair will get that much money backin publicity before he has been on the job three months.

He is one of the few men people like to see blow his stack. Half-aroused he can be a bigger attraction than most men 100 per cent angry. Let's have among fair buildings a Palace of Fiery Phrases, a Temple of Outer Space Adjectives and a huge building known as the "Dear Sir, You Cur, Auditorium." Fun is fun and it's a major asset to any World's Fair.

The Monkey On His Back

More Grand Juries Probe Teamsters

By Victor Riesel

Federal agents are tired of playing tag with Jimmy Hoffa and the "boys." Hoffa's so good at games, the government would like to try him at monopoly. The Justice Department's Anti-Trust Division has three grand juries probing possible Teamsters' restraint of trade, it can now be revealed.

Victor Riesel

These investigating units are sitting in New York, Detroit and Omaha. They are quite different from the four other grand juries operating under the Justice Department's Criminal Division. This makes a total of seven including one little observed jury which is looking into the hundreds of telephone calls and other records of Hoffa's activity at Washington's Hotel Woodner.

Most of the documents have been destroyed and the Justice Department wants to know who got rid of them and why and at whose order.

The Woodner has been Hoffa's castle away from home — a hotel suite with a fully equipped and publicized kitchen in which the short order, and frequently short tempered cook has whipped up many a breakfast with his own hands for his gourmet friends.

HOFFA IS NOT overly concerned by the criminal grand juries. He has beaten them so often. What disturbs him more are the three anti-trust probes. It is little known but Hoffa was once convicted of anti-trust violation in the waste handlers' field. That was in 1941. It cost him $1,000 fine.

Anti-trust laws can be more potent than the criminal code. Conviction under the monopoly and anti-trust statues can result in heavy fines up to $50,000 on each count and-or a year in jail on each point. Conviction can also mean actual dissolution of a union local and a ruling from the bench that its officials may not remain in the field of labor.

But Jimmy Hoffa is a daring young man almost literally on a flying trapeze. He has flown several hundred thousand miles in everything from a single-pilot, single-motored job to the big jets since September 1957, in pursuit of his one big dream — a national union of everything that flies, moves on wheels or sails the seas.

Hoffa believes in the personal touch and handshakes and thus has become the most traveled union chief in history.

We crossed each other's path in Iowa the other week. There he announced that he had moved into the railroads. He spoke mysteriously of his support among those transport workers.

Part of this optimism, it can be reported, is based on his efforts to infiltrate the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. This union recently finished its three-million-dollar marathon convention in Cleveland's Music Hall.

DURING THAT SERIES of sessions, which ran from Jan. 4 to Feb. 18, Hoffa had his own representatives working out of hotel suites near the convention hall.

Hoffa's most important contact man was a Teamsters leader from Nebraska. This official set up unofficial — and what he thought was secret — headquarters in the Hotel Auditorium. This is just across from the meeting hall.

The Nebraska Teamster was there for more than a week. To his suite after each day's session and during the lunch hour, came some Railroad Trainmen delegates.

How successful Hoffa's agent was only he and Hoffa know. The Rail Brotherhood's president, William Parker Kennedy, wanted nothing to do with Hoffa. Two years ago Kennedy had rejected the Teamsters bid to join a Conference on Transportation Unity.

However, Hoffa continues his drive for support for the conference. If ever the bold Teamster chief could build such unity, he could make good his plans for all transport contracts to expire on a common date on land, on sea and in the air.

The government is watching this closely. It wants to move in long before anyone has the power to name the day, the nation should stand still.

Snow Wonder

By Truman Twill

Like the snow blower for the bottom of automobile. Optional equipment. Very popular for snowy climates. Sucks up all snow from pavement and blows it out through hole in roof.

No one ever needs to get stuck again with Doc Twill's high velocity snow blower. Can be installed on used cars at any filling station in 15 minutes. Runs an hour on gallon of gas. Lasts forever.

Then there's the built-in hydraulic jacks for all four wheels. Push-button control. Car stuck on ice? Car stuck against the curb? Push a button and there you are — two feet in air. Handy-dandy feature that can be hooked up in connection with Doc Twill's inside-out tire sanders.

This amazing electronic device releases fine sand through microscopic openings in tire, itself. Sand particles lie inert on interior of casing until released by this amazing new device, available only on most expensive Italian custom-builts until Twill went to work on homegrown product.

Also retractable scoop. Built into grillwork. Closest observer cannot detect. In case snowdrift looms ahead, simple mechanism with manual controls releases snowblade of professional design to clear pavement ahead without use of chains or bulky paraphnernalia.

Be the first in your neighborhood to own a Twillscoop. Mr. Alex Murfee, Bangor, Me., writes: "In one snowy weekend here I paid for my new Twillscoop and am looking forward to many happy years with this device."

Another boon to mankind is my revolving windshield. Does frost and mist trouble you on cold mornings? Why be half blind waiting for windshield to clear up? Why risk offending others with a spray-spattered peephole while traveling behind trucks?

Amazing new windshield revolves — that's right, "revolves"— in continuous detergent bath that keeps it sparkling clean. Mrs. G. of Southern Fuzz, Ill., astonishes her friends with this amazing improvement. She invites them to stick their heads out and look around. They do. They think it's like a television commercial for glass so clear you can't see it — that there's no glass there. "Crrunch!" "Ho, ho," says Mrs. G., warning them they have ridden with her at their own risk.

Things also moving well with the seat warmer. Operates two ways. Concealed fan forces cool air through driver's - seat cushion in warm weather and hot air in cold weather. Nothing to catch fire or get out of order. Especially popular with salesmen. Obtainable only from manufacturer. If not satisfied, send device and car attached back to us and money will be refunded minus charge for handling. Slightly higher west of Hudson River.

Eyeglass defroster. Thousands have waited for this handy accessory. Can be installed with screwdriver and pliers. Runs off car blower. Roll - up tube blows warm air over eyeglasses that mist over when wearer enters car. Guaranteed to work in 30 seconds or money back.

Why risk a life when $5 will bring you at our expense this boon to motoring. Use it for a week. If not satisfied, write complaint in 500 words or less on 8x12 plain paper containing watermark "Crystal Mountain" in magentic ink and you may be eligible for attractive prizes.

These are old inventions that didn't seem worth developing until recently. By the time this winter is over, these will be only the beginning of what everybody will need to make winter easier to bear.

Sable, hitherto favored by tsars and noblemen, was becoming scarce and the velvety, soft, dense fur of the otter was a superior substitute. Choice skins sold for as much as $2,500 each. One cargo of the pelts was valued at more than $1,000,000.

The meek marine mammals were hunted relentlessly. In one year, more than 50,000 pelts were taken. The Russians moved southward to California in search of the dwindling otters.

Parents And The Child's Homework

It's wonderful when parents help the child at home so skillfully that he does much better with books at school. When this happens there is a growing companionship between the child and his parents. He and they gain pleasure over his mounting achievements. But, alas, the school frequently advises parents, especially of children in the elementary grades, not to try to help the youngster with his lessons at home, and some parents accept this advice, often to be disillusioned later. However, here and there, one learns of a teacher or an entire school that only encourages parents to help their children with homework, but also shows them how to help effectively.

By Garry Meyer.

WHEN THE school advises parents against helping the child with his lessons, it gives reasons like these:

Many parents don't know how to teach the child from books. Often they try to have him learn to read or spell or cipher in ways that conflict with the school's ways and so confuse the child and hamper his learning.

Very often parents grow impatient with the child over his lessons. Vexed at his mistakes or lag at learning, they stir up in him so many hampering emotions and discouragements that he can't learn. Such conflicts make him hate the subject at hand, or even hate school.

It is true that, in trying to help the child at home, a few parents do him more harm than good. Insisting that he learn by the ways they themselves were taught, they can confuse him.

BUT, WITH a desirable teacher-parent relationship, the school can prevail on parents to get acquainted with the school's teaching ways and imitate them.

On the other hand, there's no scientific proof that there's only one good way to teach reading, for example. Besides, there is growing evidence that a variety of approaches, such as the home might afford, can prove effective in learning to read.

Any parent who can help the child read better is probably doing a good service, regardless of the method used. The important thing is that the child is learning and getting pleasure from his success.

The major problem, of course, is for the parent to be calm and patient while helping the child learn.

BLESSED IS the pupil whose teacher wins his parent to such self - control while he tries to learn. If the parent acquires this control, she's on the way to being an invaluable ally of the school.

An occasional parent, of course, just doesn't have the stuff it takes to keep her voice soft and low and to show no impatience as she helps the child with his lessons. In that case, it might be better to hire a tutor.

A company spokesman said 32 of the freight train's 82 cars had left the tracks first. The overturning cars hit the signal bridge. The oncoming westbound mail train struck the bridge. Fifteen of the mail train's 17 cars were then derailed.

South Beaver Adopts Extra Science Study

A change in the course of study in junior high school grades, enabling "accelerated" students to receive an extra year of science training, was approved by the Southern Beaver County Joint Board of Education at its meeting Monday night in the high school near Hookstown.

The board also approved the school calendar for the 1960-61 term and 2 field trips to Pittsburgh for general science and health classes.

Under the new program, scheduled to go into effect next term, general science courses will be offered to "accelerated" students in the eighth grade. The course previously was offered only to ninth graders.

Biology was added to the program for "accelerated" ninth grade students in place of the general science course. Previously, biology was offered only to sophomores.

The revision will enable brighter students to receive an extra year of science training before graduating into high school grades, according to Victor Thomas, supervising principal.

The board authorized a general science ninth grade class to visit Buhl Planetarium in Pittsburgh April 11. George Moreth is teacher. A field trip to the Odd Fellows Orphans Home in Pittsburgh was granted a sophomore girls health class taught by Angela Zondos. A panel will discuss topics of recreation, allowances, chores and rules and regulations in family living. No definite date was set.

The board also approved attendance of Patsy Yanni, director of guidance, at the Pennsylvania School Councilors' Association meeting in Philadelphia Aprli 11-14.

The board accepted a plan submitted by Mr. and Mrs. John Buchanan to furnish and assist in planting of shrubbery for landscaping around both the high school and elementary building.

The school calendar for next term is:

Aug. 29—in-service training day for teachers; Aug. 30—first day of school; Sept. 5—Labor Day holiday; Oct. 7—Midwestern PSCA convention at New Castle; Oct. 10—Beaver County in-service training day for teachers.

Nov. 11—Veterans' Day holiday; Nov. 24-25—Thanksgiving holiday; Dec. 22-Jan. 2—Christmas vacation; Feb. 17—local in-service training for teachers; March 31-April 3—Easter vacation; May 30—Memorial Day holiday; June 1—last day of classes and June 2—local in-service training for teachers.

In other business, the board discussed the sick leave program and the budget for next term. Harvey Todd, president, presided.

The next meeting will be April 4. A special meeting of the budget committee is planned before then.

A Word To The Bosses

Clean Desk May Mean Dirty Work

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The great American dream today is to have two of everything.

You aren't a success unless you have twin beds in your bedroom, at least two baths in your house, and a two-car garage.

There are probably fellows now who even dream fondly of a splendid future in which they can afford a two-wife home.

Mine, however, is a simpler dream. All I pine for is a simple two-desk office. One desk is to work on—the other desk is simply to let things pile up on.

One desk is to please the boss. The other desk is to please me.

I get this feeling particularly about this period of the year, for now is the time when across the land thousands of memo-pad Neros and file cabinet Caligulas issue a stern edict:

"This office is getting to look like the city dump again. Everybody clean off his desk by Friday —or else."

These ten-penny tycoons never say what the "or else" means. But the implied threat is that if you don't instantly make your desk look as clean as a baptismal font you will be strung up by your thumbs, drummed out of the regiment, or ridden out of the office on a rail.

Actually, a clean desk is no true indication of either efficiency or real mental order. It is only a sign of conformity on the part of the desk's occupant. He hasn't cleared his desk for action. He has merely hidden the rubble where the boss can't see it.

Look around you in your own office. Aren't the men with the neatest desks also the most neurotic employes in the place? Don't they also include most of the hypochrondriacs, the chronic false-ulcer victims, and the fear-ridden decision dodgers?

It is also a business truism that most embezzlers — and potential embezzlers—are fastidious about their desks. In their case the neat desk is the sign of a guilty mind.

On the other hand, show me a man who keeps a cluttered desk and I'll show you one of nature's noblemen—one who takes joy in his work, is gentle with his children, raises not his voice against his wife, and never, never, never kicks his dog around.

A clean desk looks fine in a kindergarten. A clean desk in an office hides more from the boss than it tells him. A smart boss is suspicious—or should be — of an employe who spends too much time polishing apples, his desk or his fingernail.

Xenia Eating Place Opened 'To Everyone'

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Geyer's Restaurant here will open today "to everyone" — Negroes and whites alike. It had been closed for three days rather than serve Negro college students.

The students had been milling around the front of the restaurant ever since about 30 were refused service Saturday. By Sunday their number had increased to about 100—including 15 white students—and Monday some 15 showed up carrying placards.

George D. Geyer, restaurant owner, changed his mind Monday night and announced that the establishment will open today "to everyone."

A representative of the National Food Service Assn., representing Geyer, arrived here from Columbus and conferred with leaders of the picketing students. The representative, Robert W. Williams, worked out arrangements for reopening the restaurant.

The action followed the sending of an investigator from the Ohio Civil Rights Commission to Xenia to get first-hand information about the demonstration. The commission acted even though no formal complaint had been filed under an anti-discrimination law which has been in effect only a few months.

The student demonstrators came mainly from Wilberforce University and Central State College, two predominantly Negro institutions at nearby Wilberforce, Ohio.

They had vowed to continue the demonstration until Geyer allowed Negroes to be served at the restaurant.

Sues Woman Motorist

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Greyhound bus driver has sued a woman motorist for $50,000, alleging he was so upset when she cut in front of him three years ago that he has suffered severe chest pains since. James E. Kincaid filed the suit against Mrs. Dorothy Kogan. He charges Mrs. Kogan cut in front of his bus several times as he was driving west on Memorial Shoreway. She denied being negligent.

Reducers Should Chart Weight Loss Course

If you have never charted a reducing course, you will find it interesting to do so. From a stationery store, get a few sheets of graph paper and let each square down represent 2 pounds off, and each square across represent one week. Figuring 2-pound-a-week loss, draw a solid line to calculate your predicted progress. Then, as the weeks slip by, use a broken line or use a red pencil to record your actual weight loss.

By Ida Jean Kain

To stimulate your imagination, tape this graph on some spots in your kitchen where it will serve as a check against temptation. The solid line down represents your possible weight loss. Will the line representing your actual weight loss be six squares down by April 17th?

IN ALL PROBABILITY, the broken line will not exactly parallel the solid line. If you have a considerable amount of excess poundage to lose, you may lose more rapidly in the beginning, perhaps 4 or even 5 pounds the first week.

Part of this loss will be in water. However, if your system retains water as you lose fat, there may be no evidence of a weight change for an aggravating ten to 15 days.

The calculated weight loss rate is done by calorie arithmetic. If you do push-button housework, or office work, you use approximately 2,000 calories daily. If you are more active physically, figure your normal calorie requirement as 2,200 per day.

In order to force nature to burn body fat, restrict your calories to 1,000 or 1,200 a day, depending on your activity. This will establish a 1,000 calorie deficit a day, or 7,000 a week. The fuel value of a pound of body fat is 3,500 calories, which adds up to a 2-pound loss a week. Continue to draw on stored fat for 7,000 calories a week and in six weeks you will be 12 pounds lighter.

If you are quite heavy, you will lose at a faster rate in the beginning. You can easily lose 15 pounds in this length of time.

Set your own rate of weight loss. Past young middle age, you may wish to lose only one pound a week. This more leisurely rate gives the skin a chance to contract smoothly as the fat beneath is removed.

As we get along, the skin loses in elasticity and a moderate weight loss brings more pleasing results. To lose one pound a week, follow a 1,500 calorie daily diet. This allows for an abundance of good food. You'll scarcely know you are dieting . . . except by the scales.

CONTINUE THE diet, and regardless of the ups and downs on the graph, in the long run, the two lines will come close to paralleling.

Set your near goal at 6 to 15 pounds off by April 17. To lose inches as you lose pounds, exercise. That's tomorrow's session.

On the "Mr. And Mrs. Reducing Plan," meals are planned to furnish 1,050 to 1,350 calories daily. Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper.

Phone Figure Dies

CLEVELAND (AP)—Howard O. Leinard, 77, who was general manager and treasurer of the Ohio State Telephone Co. when it consolidated with Ohio Bell in 1921, died at his home in Shaker Heights Monday. He retired in 1946 from a post as assistant to the vice president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Paar Returns But Runs Into New Trouble

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Paar made a triumphal return to his NBC television show Monday night. Within an hour the tart-tongued comedian had talked himself into censorship again.

On Feb. 11, Paar walked off the show after the network had cut almost five minutes out of a taped broadcast without notifying him. The matter eliminated was a joke which NBC said was in bad taste. Shortly thereafter, Paar and NBC officials made peace.

Two network vice presidents were on hand Monday night and conferred with Paar immediately after the show was taped. An hour later, the network announced Paar had "agreed to the omission of a brief personal reference."

When the tape was broadcast, it was evident shortly after midnight that the brief personal reference was a 10-word reference to columnist Walter Winchell made during a vitriolic attack on the press, and the Hearst newspapers in particular.

Hundreds of Paar fans turned up at NBC to welcome back their hero.

Some wore "Welcome Back Jack" buttons and carried placards. Paar himself seemed touched and pleased, and explained his walkout as a "tantrum" and "childish."

"But I will still raise more hell in TV with almost anybody else in it," he promised—and he soon was doing exactly that.

Sewage Plant Survey Slated

EAST PALESTINE — Council Monday night authorized a $2,750 contract with the Floyd Brown Associates of Marion for an engineering survey of the city sewage disposal plant.

The survey, to take between 4 and 6 months, will serve as a guide for anticipated improvements and enlargements at the 23-year-old plant.

Council indicated interest in providing a similar survey for the city power plant as representatives of two more engineering firms met with members last night.

Bids from four engineering concerns for a comprehensive survey ranged from $5,000 to $6,000.

It was reported last night that the traveling grates of a seven-year-old boiler have broken down, and the plant is operating with an old boiler. The newer boiler will be down for a month while parts are awaited.

Besides the need for a new boiler, some auxiliary pumping equipment is required. An engineering survey would provide information regarding needed improvements and additions at the power plant.

East End Post To Hold Anniversary Program

Pike Mishap Fatal

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A two-car collision on the West Virginia Turnpike Monday fatally injured John Dye, 72, of Columbus, Ohio. State police said Dye's car, towing a house trailer, skidded on ice into the path of a car driven by Arch W. Mason, 65, of Chesapeake, Ohio. It happened 23 miles south of here. Mason, his passenger, Don Mullens, of Ona, W. Va., and Dye's wife were hospitalized here.

In order to force nature to burn body fat, restrict your calories to 1,000 or 1,200 a day, depending on your activity. This will establish a 1,000 calorie deficit a day, or 7,000 a week. The fuel value of a pound of body fat is 3,500 calories, which adds up to a 2-pound loss a week. Continue to draw on stored fat for 7,000 calories a week and in six weeks you will be 12 pounds lighter.

If you are quite heavy, you will lose at a faster rate in the beginning. You can easily lose 15 pounds in this length of time.

Set your own rate of weight loss. Past young middle age, you may wish to lose only one pound a week. This more leisurely rate gives the skin a chance to contract smoothly as the fat beneath is removed.

As we get along, the skin loses in elasticity and a moderate weight loss brings more pleasing results. To lose one pound a week, follow a 1,500 calorie daily diet. This allows for an abundance of good food. You'll scarcely know you are dieting . . . except by the scales.

CONTINUE THE diet, and regardless of the ups and downs on the graph, in the long run, the two lines will come close to paralleling.

Set your near goal at 6 to 16 pounds off by April 17. To lose inches as you lose pounds, exercise. That's tomorrow's session.

On the "Mr. And Mrs. Reducing Plan," meals are planned to furnish 1,050 to 1,350 calories daily. Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper.

Phone Figure Dies

CLEVELAND (AP)—Howard O. Leinard, 77, who was general manager and treasurer of the Ohio State Telephone Co. when it consolidated with Ohio Bell in 1921, died at his home in Shaker Heights Monday. He retired in 1946 from a post as assistant to the vice president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Paar Returns But Runs Into New Trouble

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Paar made a triumphal return to his NBC television show Monday night. Within an hour the tart-tongued comedian had talked himself into censorship again.

On Feb. 11, Paar walked off the show after the network had cut almost five minutes out of a taped broadcast without notifying him. The matter eliminated was a joke which NBC said was in bad taste. Shortly thereafter, Paar and NBC officials made peace.

Two network vice presidents were on hand Monday night and conferred with Paar immediately after the show was taped. An hour later, the network announced Paar had "agreed to the omission of a brief personal reference."

When the tape was broadcast, it was evident shortly after midnight that the brief personal reference was a 10-word reference to columnist Walter Winchell made during a vitriolic attack on the press, and the Hearst newspapers in particular.

Hundreds of Paar fans turned up at NBC to welcome back their hero.

Some wore "Welcome Back Jack" buttons and carried placards. Paar himself seemed touched and pleased, and explained his walkout as a "tantrum" and "childish."

"But I will still raise more hell in TV with almost anybody else in it," he promised—and he soon was doing exactly that.

In World War II, the United States declared war on Germany on Dec. 11, 1941, just a few hours after Germany declared war on the United States.

Sewage Plant Survey Slated

EAST PALESTINE — Council Monday night authorized a $2,750 contract with the Floyd Brown Associates of Marion for an engineering survey of the city sewage disposal plant.

The survey, to take between 4 and 6 months, will serve as a guide for anticipated improvements and enlargements at the 23-year-old plant.

Council indicated interest in providing a similar survey for the city power plant as representatives of two more engineering firms met with members last night.

Bids from four engineering concerns for a comprehensive survey ranged from $5,000 to $6,000.

It was reported last night that the traveling grates of a seven-year-old boiler have broken down, and the plant is operating with an old boiler. The newer boiler will be down for a month while parts are awaited.

Besides the need for a new boiler, some auxiliary pumping equipment is required. An engineering survey would provide information regarding needed improvements and additions at the power plant.

East End Post To Hold Anniversary Program

Plans for observing the anniversary of the founding of the American Legion were outlined at a meeting of Post 374 at the East End home Monday night.

A "birthday party" will be held Saturday at 6:30 p. m. Frank Young, district commander, will be guest speaker. Tickets are on sale at the post.

Pike Mishap Fatal

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A two-car collision on the West Virginia Turnpike Monday fatally injured John Dye, 72, of Columbus, Ohio. State police said Dye's car, towing a house trailer, skidded on ice into the path of a car driven by Arch W. Mason, 65, of Chesapeake, Ohio. It happened 23 miles south of here. Mason, his passenger, Don Mullens, of Ona, W. Va., and Dye's wife were hospitalized here.

Briton Rejects Mother's Plea, Will Give Baby To U.S. Couple

LUTON, England (AP) — Rejecting a tearful plea from his mother, Leo Moore says he and his wife will go ahead with plans to give their unborn baby to an American couple for adoption.

"We can manage our own affairs," said the 40-year-old bus driver after his mother, Ellen Moore, appealed to him and his wife, Yvonne, to drop their plans.

Mrs. Moore, 62, who made the 150-mile trip here from her home in Manchester, urged the Moores to let her raise the child if they did not want it.

"She came in here crying and making a scene," said Moore. "I'm not a child. I wish my mother had not interfered."

His 39-year-old wife leaves by plane Wednesday for the United States. She expects the baby, her first, in mid-April. It will be adopted by Wilbur and Billie Prescott, a childless North Charleston, S.C., couple.

They are paying Mrs. Moore's travel expenses and will take care of her until the baby is born.

Mrs. Moore said earlier "I'm giving the baby away simply because I don't want it."

Disclosure of the adoption plans whipped up a storm of criticism from neighbors and Moore's coworkers.

The Moores said they still think they have made the right decision. In Charleston the Prescotts, who together earn nearly $10,000 a year at the Navy shipyard, said the criticism is unjustified.

"They can't afford the baby and don't want it," said Mrs. Prescott. "We can afford it and we want it very badly. God never saw fit to give us one of our own.

"I don't know why people are criticizing Mrs. Moore. She sounds like a very unselfish person to me."

John Reider, commander, will present awards, including 12 jackets, 3 membership awards and about 40 continuous membership awards for 5-30 years.

The date for the event was changed from March 15 because of the possibility of Lincoln High School playing in the WPIAL semi-finals.

Everett Hugh Cox Jr. of Beaver Falls, deputy chief of staff of the department of Pennsylvania Veterans of World War I, will be a speaker. Woodrow Jones and Eugene Fritz are co-chairmen for the event and Lester Trainer Jr. will be toastmaster.

There will be a buffet dinner, dancing and a magic show by Thomas Bryan of Midland Heights. During business, the post voted to donate $50 to the high school marching band for its trip in May to participate in a parade in Washington. Approval was given for ordering necessary school medal awards to be given at the end of the school year.

New members accepted were Benjamin Underwood, Robert R. Stivason, John M. Waddingham and Richard G. Stiffey, all of Midland, and John M. Muschweck of Industry.

The post voted to enter a team in the Junior Legion Baseball League, county and district. Fantone reported on the Legion sponsored essay and oratorical contests of which he is county chairman.

Truman Rodfong, adjutant, began taking reservations of delegates and alternates to the national convention in Philadelphia July 20-23. Delegates include Reider, Harry Hulton, Fantone, Don Roach and the incoming commander who remains to be elected.

Briton Rejects Mother's Plea, Will Give Baby To U.S. Couple

LUTON, England (AP) — Rejecting a tearful plea from his mother, Leo Moore says he and his wife will go ahead with plans to give their unborn baby to an American couple for adoption.

"We can manage our own affairs," said the 40-year-old bus driver after his mother, Ellen Moore, appealed to him and his wife, Yvonne, to drop their plans.

Mrs. Moore, 62, who made the 150-mile trip here from her home in Manchester, urged the Moores to let her raise the child if they did not want it.

"She came in here crying and making a scene," said Moore. "I'm not a child. I wish my mother had not interfered."

His 39-year-old wife leaves by plane Wednesday for the United States. She expects the baby, her first, in mid-April. It will be adopted by Wilbur and Billie Prescott, a childless North Charleston, S.C., couple.

They are paying Mrs. Moore's travel expenses and will take care of her until the baby is born.

Mrs. Moore said earlier "I'm giving the baby away simply because I don't want it."

Disclosure of the adoption plans whipped up a storm of criticism from neighbors and Moore's coworkers.

The Moores said they still think they have made the right decision. In Charleston the Prescotts, who together earn nearly $10,000 a year at the Navy shipyard, said the criticism is unjustified.

"They can't afford the baby and don't want it," said Mrs. Prescott. "We can afford it and we want it very badly. God never saw fit to give us one of our own.

"I don't know why people are criticizing Mrs. Moore. She sounds like a very unselfish person to me."

Lisbon Child Injures Head In Fall On Shears

LISBON — A 4½-year-old area girl, who fell on shears and suffered a head injury Monday, was transferred to a Youngstown hospital following treatment at the Salem City Hospital yesterday.

The mother ran from the home on Route 30 west of here yesterday, and halted a trucker for help. He called the State Highway Patrol which in turn notified the sheriff's department. An officer was sent to take the child to a village doctor.

Hits At Gambling

DOVER, Ohio (AP)—This city's 48-year-old gambling ordinance was strengthened Monday night by City Council to bring it in line with state statutes. Fines were increased from $100 to $500 and the city was given the right to confiscate gambling devices. Trials of Mayor Clifford C. Froelich and five alleged gamblers for alleged bribery begin soon, with George Markos as defendant in the first trial opening March 21.

Prior to Richard Nixon, there have been only four U. S. vice presidents who have served two complete consecutive terms in that office — John Adams, Daniel Tompkins, Thomas Marshall and John Garner.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you'll print my letter. Maybe it will wise up some other foolish woman who is getting bored with cooking, cleaning, laundry, kids, PTA, church work and family dinners.

I had a short-lived cheap affair—and I DO mean cheap—with a neighbor. He, too, was married but fancied himself in love with me (or so he said). I talked myself into believing that my daily existance was dull, that my husband didn't appreciate me and what I needed to restore my youth and vitality was a movie-type romance.

After three clandestine meetings I was so disgusted with myself I couldn't bear to look in the mirror. He told me about five affairs he had had with friends of mine. I got sick to my stomach. I knew if he told me about them, that I'd be included on his list to the next one.

I told him not to call me any more and he said: "Don't worry, I've already got the next one picked out."

I'm lucky this affair didn't cost me my home and family and I intend to spend the rest of my days making it up to them.—NO SELF RESPECT.

Young Blackmailers

Dear Ann: I'm a girl who is 15 and in deep and serious trouble. My younger brothers who are 11 and 12 found my diary. It was locked and they couldn't locate the key but they broke it open and read it.

There is a lot of stuff in the diary that I don't want ANYBODY to know, especially my parents. My brothers are holding this over my head like a sword. They say they will give the diary back and keep still for $2 apiece.

I have the money but it burns me up to have to buy back something that belongs to me. Yet my parents would have a fit if they knew some of the things I've written. What shall I do?—SICK INSIDE.

Dear Sick: Don't give those little blackmailers 4 cents. Tell them to return your diary at once or you'll tell your parents what they are up to.

Far better to risk parental wrath than to cave in to the demands of your brothers. Paying off would contribute to the moral disintegration of your brothers and they would only shake you down again and again.

In-Law Trouble

Dear Ann: Three years ago I got married. The first year we had a baby boy. I had just finished my hitch in the Army and didn't have anything, so we rented a couple of rooms.

My wife's mother said we couldn't keep the baby in such a place because it was drafty and we had to share a bathroom with two other roomers. So we let her take the boy until we could get on our feet.

We now have a cute little house and my wife is pregnant again. My mother-in-law won't give the boy up. She says this child is her whole life and she will die of heartbreak if we take him. She tells my wife we can have a big family and never miss this first one.

My son calls me Uncle Tim and my mother-in-law "Mama." My wife is a wreck because she wants the boy home with us but she's afraid her mother will have a heart attack or maybe even kill herself. What shall we do?—IN THE MIDDLE.

Dear In: Get your son at once and quit horsing around. This boy belongs with you and his mother. If your mother-in-law wants to lavish love and affection on a youngster, suggest she take one or two foster children into her home. Your local welfare agency will help her.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

4. There has been no organized effort to establish a write-in for Rockefeller in the Republican "beauty contest" section of the ballot. Since he did not enter the race, his name is not printed there. Nevertheless, New Hampshire observers report that strong sentiment exists for him in several communities and said it would be reflected in several thousand write-in votes.

5. Kennedy's opposition in the Democratic primary is Paul C. Fisher, Chicago Manufacturer. Fisher has campaigned hard and reported expenditures only slightly less than those spent for Nixon.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you'll print my letter. Maybe it will wise up some other foolish woman who is getting bored with cooking, cleaning, laundry, kids, PTA, church work and family dinners.

I had a short-lived cheap affair—and I DO mean cheap—with a neighbor. He, too, was married but fancied himself in love with me (or so he said). I talked myself into believing that my daily existance was dull, that my husband didn't appreciate me and what I needed to restore my youth and vitality was a movie-type romance.

After three clandestine meetings I was so disgusted with myself I couldn't bear to look in the mirror. He told me about five affairs he had had with friends of mine. I got sick to my stomach. I knew if he told me about them, that I'd be included on his list to the next one.

I told him not to call me any more and he said: "Don't worry, I've already got the next one picked out."

I'm lucky this affair didn't cost me my home and family and I intend to spend the rest of my days making it up to them.—NO SELF RESPECT.

Young Blackmailers

Dear Ann: I'm a girl who is 15 and in deep and serious trouble. My younger brothers who are 11 and 12 found my diary. It was locked and they couldn't locate the key but they broke it open and read it.

There is a lot of stuff in the diary that I don't want ANYBODY to know, especially my parents. My brothers are holding this over my head like a sword. They say they will give the diary back and keep still for $2 apiece.

I have the money but it burns me up to have to buy back something that belongs to me. Yet my parents would have a fit if they knew some of the things I've written. What shall I do?—SICK INSIDE.

Dear Sick: Don't give those little blackmailers 4 cents. Tell them to return your diary at once or you'll tell your parents what they are up to.

Far better to risk parental wrath than to cave in to the demands of your brothers. Paying off would contribute to the moral disintegration of your brothers, and they would only shake you down again and again.

In-Law Trouble

Dear Ann: Three years ago I got married. The first year we had a baby boy. I had just finished my hitch in the Army and didn't have anything, so we rented a couple of rooms.

My wife's mother said we couldn't keep the baby in such a place because it was drafty and we had to share a bathroom with two other roomers. So we let her take the boy until we could get on our feet.

We now have a cute little house and my wife is pregnant again. My mother-in-law won't give the boy up. She says this child is her whole life and she will die of heartbreak if we take him. She tells my wife we can have a big family and never miss this first one.

My son calls me Uncle Tim and my mother-in-law "Mama." My wife is a wreck because she wants the boy home with us but she's afraid her mother will have a heart attack or maybe even kill herself. What shall we do?—IN THE MIDDLE.

Dear In: Get your son at once and quit horsing around. This boy belongs with you and his mother. If your mother-in-law wants to lavish love and affection on a youngster, suggest she take one or two foster children into her home. Your local welfare agency will help her.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

5. Kennedy's opposition in the Democratic primary is Paul C. Fisher, Chicago Manufacturer. Fisher has campaigned hard and reported expenditures only slightly less than those spent for Nixon.

Senior, Junior Highs Rated As First Class

The standard also indicates each school shall enroll all its pupils in an instructional program of physical education, he added.

Norman also pointed out health education is not offered this year but should be introduced next year as a required course for at least one semester.

HE URGED a study be made of the industrial arts program to determine whether it is adequate for school with an enrollment of approximately 470 boys.

The present program covers woodworking, machine shop and mechanical drawing but the high school standards require "at least a minimum" of experience in the areas of woodworking, general metals, drawing and electricity.

He also suggested adequate facilities and equipment be provided to increase the scope and content of the art program.

A complete renovation is needed in the food laboratory in the home economics area with inauguration of a four-year program.

Unit-type kitchens should be installed and adequate lighting provided.

RENOVATION of the woodworking department also was suggested by the supervisor, who said a safety code paint should be used on machinery and benches and a pastel paint on walls and ceilings. Glare-free light also should be installed.

Similar painting should be undertaken in the machine shop and either shades or colored glass installed to cut down the glare from the sun's rays at the west side of the shop.

Norman found the business education program "broad and comprehensive" but said a program should be developed to replace several old typewriters.

Larger facilities are needed for Typing 1 where the room is too small for the number of pupils enrolled, he added. School officials also should consider the feasibility of placing all business education classes on the same floor in one building.

In his specific recommendations, Norman said school officials also should consider the possibility of offering a music major so pupils could develope a taste and discrimination for good music as well as an appreciation of our cultural heritage.

HE RECOMMENDED additional models, charts and storage facilities in the biology classroom and addition of a third and possibly fourth year in one of the modern languages.

Many shades need to be replaced and desk tops should be refinished in Central and High School buildings, he concluded.

Westgate — An increase in the number of volumes in the school library was among the major recommendation by the supervisor.

"The library is the heart of a school and it should contain an abundance of research material for all phases of the education program.

"An evaluation of this library indicates that 4,694 volumes are needed to meet the minimum requirements of the high school standards. A substantial appropriation should be made for the next 3 years to bring the collection up to standard," Norman said.

THE LIBRARY is well-organized but it is necessary for the librarian to have eight additional semester hours of library science training to meet the standard, he continued.

Principal Dixon is exerting "capable and progressive leadership" and many teachers are doing "excellent work." An "appreciable number" of teachers provide appropriate classroom atmosphere but some teachers could improve the educational program by using questions which would stimulate critical thinking by requiring more than a word or a phrase for an answer, he said.

He recommended in addition to the guidance program that an individual with a school counselor's certificate be employed to direct the testing program and assist teachers and pupils with guidance problems.

Norman also urged additional texts and reference books be provided for home economics classes.

BECAUSE THE 12 seventh grade science classes are taught in academic classrooms, Norman said "serious consideration" should be given to the possibility of equipping additional rooms for science to accommodate all the science classes.

EAST — Several teachers are doing "commendable" work and Principal Means is providing "capable and friendly leadership" which is reflected in the co-operative relationships on the part of the staff and pupils.

However, Norman said in several areas teachers and pupils could work together to develop a classroom atmosphere pertinent to the subject taught, making it more interesting and instructive.

"The instuctional program could be improved appreciably by giving pupils a greater opportunity for active participation through specific library assignments and greater provision for thoughtful analysis of problems and the drawing of logical conclusions," the supervisor continued.

PROVISION has been made for the education of the gifted as well as the average pupil "but perhaps the faculty should critically analyze the program to determine the progress that has been made. It is apparent that additional enrichment for the gifted group is needed in several classes. Teachers should endeavor to stimulate critical thinking and require pupils to offer more than a word or phrase for an answer."

Norman rated the school library unsatisfactory as to total volumes with reference materials in the various subject areas, number of periodicals, librarian with training in library science, organization, use and growth.

Some progress has been made, he said, and additional volumes are being received from the Carnegie Public Library but it is necessary to increase the number of books to meet the minimum standard.

"A library under the supervision of a properly trained librarian contributes greatly to the instructional program of a school. An adequate budget should be provided to enable this school to meet library standards within a three-year period."

IN HIS recommendations, Norman urged inauguration of an art course with one unit of cretit to make students aware of contemporary products and past cultures.

He also urged serious consideration be given to equipping another room for general science. The present science room is used by ninth graders and pupils in the seventh grade science program do not have the advantage of a science room.

AS HE DID AT Westgate, Norman suggested a teacher with adequate preparation in guidance be employed to conduct the testing program and co-ordinate the guidance service.

In his reports on the new junior high schools, Norman praised the residents of the school district for building and equipping the new structures. "This represents the desire the people have for better schools for the youth of your city," he wrote.

There are more people in Europe than in North and South America combined, also more in Asia than in Europe and the Americas combined.

Campaign Spreads To 8 States

Negroes Point To Victory In Lunch Counter Dispute

By The Associated Press

Negro demonstrators claimed a victory in North Carolina today as the growing anti - segregation campaign entered its sixth week and spread into the eighth Southern state.

Students in two North Carolina cities seeking equal eating facilities at traditionally segregated lunch counters were served while seated Monday. Apparently it was the first time this had happened in the state where the current wave of sitdowns started.

The first demonstration in West Virginia took a new form. Students paraded at a motion picture theater protesting segregated seating arrangements.

In Houston, Tex., the sitdowns spread from drug stores to a supermarket lunch counter. Service was refused and the counter area roped off. No trouble was reported.

Eleven Negroes were arrested for trespassing in Petersburg, Va., after they occupied a section reserved for white persons in the city library and refused to leave.

At Winston-Salem, N.C., 75 placard-carrying students staged a two-hour demonstration climaxed by singing and a brief prayer service in front of City Hall. Police warned a repetition would result in arrests on charges of staging a parade without a permit.

After the demonstration some of the participants were served hot dogs and soft drinks while sitting in a combination hardware and variety store.

Later, however, a store spokesman announced plans to remove the soda fountain stools. He said in the future white persons and Negroes would be served only while standing.

At Salisbury, N.C., six Negro students from Livingstone College were served in pairs at three downtown drug store lunch counters. There were no incidents. Four other students were refused service in two other drug stores.

The anti-segregation demonstrations began at Greensboro, N.C., Feb. 1. Since then they have spread to South Carolina, Alabama, Florida, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia. Sympathy demonstrations have occurred in a number of northern localities.

West Virginia Marks First Demonstrations

BLUEFIELD (AP) — West Virginia's first demonstration in the current wave of Negro protests against segregated seating practices came yesterday in Bluefield when long, silent lines of Negro college students picketed two local theaters.

There were no incidents and the demonstration barely attracted a crowd. City police were on hand, they said primarily to protect the demonstrators in case of any reactions.

The Negroes, who identified themselves as students at Bluefield State College, formed a line outside the Colonial Theater about 4 p. m. They paraded back and forth an hour from the marquee front entrance used by whites to a rear entrance off a parking lot where Negroes are admitted to segregated rear balcony.

"We Are Through Walking Alleys and Entering Back Doors" and "Civil Rights Mean Human Rights" were inscriptions on some of the signs worn by the 22 demonstrators in the first group.

They dispersed voluntarily at 5 p. m.

About two hours later the Negroes reappeared, wearing the same signs, but their numbers more than doubled. The second group were bundled against the icy night winds and falling snow.

After parading around the Colonial, they made two trips to the Granada Theater, about a block away, where segregated seating also is enforced. At the Granada, Negroes enter a front door, also leading to an all-Negro upper balcony section.

Colonial Theater co-owner Rodney Keesling said his seating policy was in keeping with local custom. He said 90 per cent of his customers were whites and they—not the theater—dictate the separation of races.

Granada Theater manager John Bateman had no comments for reporters. But he indicated his policy was similar to that of Keesling.

Neither theater was closed nor did there appear to be any interruption of patrons entering.

The only reaction from whites apparent nearby were signs hastily posted in two grills near the Colonial. They said "Prices Subject to Change at Any Time." One owner explained he took the step "just in case" — the Negroes should attempt to enter and ask for service.

Youth Admits 7th Slaying In Murder Spree

The red-haired boy said Monday he killed two men in Phoenix, Ariz. Previously he had confessed to one.

Detective Warren D. Holmes, a lie detector expert, said "there may be more killings. This boy won't admit anything until confronted with the evidence."

Sheriff John Kirk said Whitney told him he fired a .22 slug into the brain of a "Phoenix bum" in an abandoned bus in a parking lot. Phoenix police said the victim was Ira Lee Hardison, 55, a skid row character.

Whitney, who shot a Hialeah housewife to death last Friday, earlier had killed two Dade (Miami) County gas station attendants and wounded a third in holdups, police said.

The day after his capture he admitted a slaying in Victorsville, Calif., the killing of Frazier, and a slaying in Tucson, Ariz. The string of murders started Feb. 12.

In Los Angeles, the boy's father, Ralph Whitney, described Dennis as a quiet boy whose main interest was art.

"I don't know what to think. I have no idea why he would do it," said Whitney, an inspector in the Curtiss-Wright engine overhaul plant at North Hollywood.

5 Yachts Finish Race; Winner Undisclosed

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Five sleek yachts, headed by the 59-foot yawl Pacifica, have crossed the finish line in the 360-mile Miami-to-St. Petersburg race but officials today awaited arrival of the smaller, slower craft before announcing a winner.

Official times are based on handicaps, one of which is as much as 11 hours greater than that allowed Pacifica which negotiated the distance in 58 hours, 10 minutes and 35 seconds.

Other yachts in are Solution, Touche, The Good Hope and Comanche.

The race is a substitute for the annual St. Petersburg-to-Havana race. The Havana event was canceled because of current conditions in Cuba.

If the names of all presidents were arranged alphabetically, Woodrow Wilson's would appear last.

Said Griffith:

"I'll deal with anybody who will help my ball club. As far as the Chattanooga crack by Lane is concerned, I'd like to remind that learned gentleman that we're no longer affiliated with that club."

A jury of 7 women and 5 men was seated this morning in Municipal Court to hear a case in which Thomas Hyatt Lewis, 36, of 433 Main St., Wellsville, is accused of driving while under the influence of alcohol — the aftermath of a Dresden Ave. traffic mishap Feb. 7.

Assistant Solicitor Richard J. Clark, prosecuting for the city, and Atty. George A. Aronson, defense counsel, ran through 17 of the 30-member venire before both were satisfied with the panel.

The standard also indicates each school shall enroll all its pupils in an instructional program of physical education, he added.

Norman also pointed out health education is not offered this year but should be introduced next year as a required course for at least one semester.

HE URGED a study be made of the industrial arts program to determine whether it is adequate for school with an enrollment of approximately 470 boys.

The present program covers woodworking, machine shop and mechanical drawing but the high school standards require "at least a minimum" of experience in the areas of woodworking, general metals, drawing and electricity.

He also suggested adequate facilities and equipment be provided to increase the scope and content of the art program.

A complete renovation is needed in the food laboratory in the home economics area with inauguration of a four-year program.

Unit-type kitchens should be installed and adequate lighting provided.

RENOVATION of the woodworking department also was suggested by the supervisor, who said a safety code paint should be used on machinery and benches and a pastel paint on walls and ceilings. Glare-free light also should be installed.

Similar painting should be undertaken in the machine shop and either shades or colored glass installed to cut down the glare from the sun's rays at the west side of the shop.

Norman found the business education program "broad and comprehensive" but said a program should be developed to replace several old typewriters.

Larger facilities are needed for Typing 1 where the room is too small for the number of pupils enrolled, he added. School officials also should consider the feasibility of placing all business education classes on the same floor in one building.

In his specific recommendations, Norman said school officials also should consider the possibility of offering a music major so pupils could develope a taste and discrimination for good music as well as an appreciation of our cultural heritage.

HE RECOMMENDED additional models, charts and storage facilities in the biology classroom and addition of a third and possibly fourth year in one of the modern languages.

Many shades need to be replaced and desk tops should be refinished in Central and High School buildings, he concluded.

Westgate — An increase in the number of volumes in the school library was among the major recommendation by the supervisor.

"The library is the heart of a school and it should contain an abundance of research material for all phases of the education program.

"An evaluation of this library indicates that 4,694 volumes are needed to meet the minimum requirements of the high school standards. A substantial appropriation should be made for the next 3 years to bring the collection up to standard," Norman said.

THE LIBRARY is well-organized but it is necessary for the librarian to have eight additional semester hours of library science training to meet the standard, he continued.

Principal Dixon is exerting "capable and progressive leadership" and many teachers are doing "excellent work." An "appreciable number" of teachers provide appropriate classroom atmosphere but some teachers could improve the educational program by using questions which would stimulate critical thinking by requiring more than a word or a phrase for an answer, he said.

He recommended in addition to the guidance program that an individual with a school counselor's certificate be employed to direct the testing program and assist teachers and pupils with guidance problems.

Norman also urged additional books and reference books be provided for home economics classes.

BECAUSE THE 12 seventh grade science classes are taught in academic classrooms, Norman said "serious consideration" should be given to the possibility of equipping additional rooms for science to accommodate all the science classes.

EAST — Several teachers are doing "commendable" work and Principal Means is providing "capable and friendly leadership" which is reflected in the co-operative relationships on the part of the staff and pupils.

However, Norman said in several areas teachers and pupils could work together to develop a classroom atmosphere pertinent to the subject taught, making it more interesting and instructive.

"The instuctional program could be improved appreciably by giving pupils a greater opportunity for active participation through specific library assignments and greater provision for thoughtful analysis of problems and the drawing of logical conclusions," the supervisor continued.

PROVISION has been made for the education of the gifted as well as the average pupil "but perhaps the faculty should critically analyze the program to determine the progress that has been made. It is apparent that additional enrichment for the gifted group is needed in several classes. Teachers should endeavor to stimulate critical thinking and require pupils to offer more than a word or phrase for an answer."

Norman rated the school library unsatisfactory as to total volumes with reference materials in the various subject areas, number of periodicals, librarian with training in library science, organization, use and growth.

Some progress has been made, he said, and additional volumes are being received from the Carnegie Public Library but it is necessary to increase the number of books to meet the minimum standard.

"A library under the supervision of a properly trained librarian contributes greatly to the instructional program of a school. An adequate budget should be provided to enable this school to meet library standards within a three-year period."

IN HIS recommendations, Norman urged inauguration of an art course with one unit of credit to make students aware of contemporary products and past cultures.

He also urged serious consideration be given to equipping another room for general science. The present science room is used by ninth graders and pupils in the seventh grade science program do not have the advantage of a science room.

AS HE DID AT Westgate, Norman suggested a teacher with adequate preparation in guidance be employed to conduct the testing program and co-ordinate the guidance service.

In his reports on the new junior high schools, Norman praised the residents of the school district for building and equipping the new structures. "This represents the desire the people have for better schools for the youth of your city," he wrote.

There are more people in Europe than in North and South America combined, also more in Asia than in Europe and the Americas combined.

Campaign Spreads To 8 States

Negroes Point To Victory In Lunch Counter Dispute

By The Associated Press

Negro demonstrators claimed a victory in North Carolina today as the growing anti - segregation campaign entered its sixth week and spread into the eighth Southern state.

Students in two North Carolina cities seeking equal eating facilities at traditionally segregated lunch counters were served while seated Monday. Apparently it was the first time this had happened in the state where the current wave of sitdowns started.

The first demonstration in West Virginia took a new form. Students paraded at a motion picture theater protesting segregated seating arrangements.

In Houston, Tex., the sitdowns spread from drug stores to a supermarket lunch counter. Service was refused and the counter area roped off. No trouble was reported.

Eleven Negroes were arrested for trespassing in Petersburg, Va., after they occupied a section reserved for white persons in the city library and refused to leave.

At Winston-Salem, N.C., 75 placard-carrying students staged a two-hour demonstration climaxed by singing and a brief prayer service in front of City Hall. Police warned a repetition would result in arrests on charges of staging a parade without a permit.

After the demonstration some of the participants were served hot dogs and soft drinks while sitting in a combination hardware and variety store.

Later, however, a store spokesman announced plans to remove the soda fountain stools. He said in the future white persons and Negroes would be served only while standing.

At Salisbury, N.C., six Negro students from Livingstone College were served in pairs at three downtown drug store lunch counters. There were no incidents. Four other students were refused service in two other drug stores.

The anti-segregation demonstrations began at Greensboro, N.C., Feb. 1. Since then they have spread to South Carolina, Alabama, Florida, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia. Sympathy demonstrations have occurred in a number of northern localities.

West Virginia Marks First Demonstrations

BLUEFIELD (AP) — West Virginia's first demonstration in the current wave of Negro protests against segregated seating practices came yesterday in Bluefield when long, silent lines of Negro college students picketed two local theaters.

There were no incidents and the demonstration barely attracted a crowd. City police were on hand, they said primarily to protect the demonstrators in case of any reactions.

The Negroes, who identified themselves as students at Bluefield State College, formed a line outside the Colonial Theater about 4 p. m. They paraded back and forth an hour from the marquee front entrance used by whites to a rear entrance off a parking lot where Negroes are admitted to segregated rear balcony.

"We Are Through Walking Alleys and Entering Back Doors" and "Civil Rights Mean Human Rights" were inscriptions on some of the signs worn by the 22 demonstrators in the first group.

They dispersed voluntarily at 5 p. m.

About two hours later the Negroes reappeared, wearing the same signs, but their numbers more than doubled. The second group were bundled against the icy night winds and falling snow.

After parading around the Colonial, they made two trips to the Granada Theater, about a block away, where segregated seating also is enforced. At the Granada, Negroes enter a front door, also leading to an all-Negro upper balcony section.

Colonial Theater co-owner Rodney Keesling said his seating policy was in keeping with local custom. He said 90 per cent of his customers were whites and they—not the theater—dictate the separation of races.

Granada Theater manager John Bateman had no comments for reporters. But he indicated his policy was similar to that of Keesling.

Neither theater was closed nor did there appear to be any interruption of patrons entering.

The only reaction from whites apparent nearby were signs hastily posted in two grills near the Colonial. They said "Prices Subject to Change at Any Time." One owner explained he took the step "just in case" — the Negroes should attempt to enter and ask for service.

Youth Admits 7th Slaying In Murder Spree

The red-haired boy said Monday he killed two men in Phoenix, Ariz. Previously he had confessed to one.

Detective Warren D. Holmes, a lie detector expert, said "there may be more killings. This boy won't admit anything until confronted with the evidence."

Sheriff John Kirk said Whitney told him he fired a .22 slug into the brain of a "Phoenix bum" in an abandoned bus in a parking lot. Phoenix police said the victim was Ira Lee Hardison, 55, a skid row character.

Whitney, who shot a Hialeah housewife to death last Friday, earlier had killed two Dade (Miami) County gas station attendants and wounded a third in holdups, police said.

The day after his capture he admitted a slaying in Victorsville, Calif., the killing of Frazier, and a slaying in Tucson, Ariz. The string of murders started Feb. 12.

In Los Angeles, the boy's father, Ralph Whitney, described Dennis as a quiet boy whose main interest was art.

"I don't know what to think. I have no idea why he would do it," said Whitney, an inspector in the Curtiss-Wright engine overhaul plant at North Hollywood.

5 Yachts Finish Race; Winner Undisclosed

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Five sleek yachts, headed by the 39-foot yawl Pacifica, have crossed the finish line in the 300-mile Miami-to-St. Petersburg race but officials today awaited arrival of the smaller, slower craft before announcing a winner.

Official times are based on handicaps, one of which is as much as 11 hours greater than that allowed Pacifica which negotiated the distance in 38 hours, 10 minutes and 26 seconds.

Other yachts in are Solution, Touche, The Good Hope and Comanche.

Surrey Rd., and Edith Alexander, 1912 Michigan Ave.

Seated tentatively, but later excused by counsel or Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, were: Harry L. Simpson, 830 Chester Ave., Alma Elizabeth Gregg, 676 Lincoln Ave., Orville G. Casto, 1003 Lincoln Ave., John A. Fone, 1075 Elwood St., and Franklin R. Kreefer, 851 Pennsylvania Ave.

Exercising peremptory challenges, the prosecution excused Simpson, who was replaced by Mrs. Godwin; Casto, who was replaced by Mrs. Roush, and Fone, whose place was taken by Mrs. Alexander. Atty. Aronson excused Mrs. Gregg, who was replaced by Webber. Judge Chertoff excused Kreefer, who told the court he wears a hearing aid and might miss some of the testimony. Kreefer was replaced by Mrs. Fawcett.

An overflow crowd packed the courtroom for the case, the first jury trial since Judge Chertoff ascended the bench Jan. 1. The court recessed after selection of the jury, scheduled to name an alternate as the first item of business when the case resumed.

Patrolmen E. R. Furgason and Floyd K. Garvey, who arrested Lewis, were to take the stand for the prosecution. Lewis pleaded not guilty Feb. 8 and asked a jury trial. He has been free on $1,000 bond.

Your Income Tax

Wrong Form Can Cost You Money

(A new federal income tax form—1040W—takes its place alongside the 1040A and 1040 forms this year. The new form offers advantages to about one in four taxpayers. This article, the second in a series on "Figuring Your Income Tax", explains which form is best for you.)

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

This year there are three forms: 1040; 1040A; 1040W. As in the past, most people will use 1040A because they fit the requirements and it's easiest.

New form 1040W is little roomier than 1040A. But both are for those whose income was from wages, plus not more than $200 in dividends and interest. Form 1040 is for all kinds of income.

You must figure your own tax if you itemize your deductions or had income of $5,000 or more.

FORM 1040A, a tabulating punch-card:

You can use it if your total 1959 income was below $10,000 and was from wages or salary, from which tax was withheld, plus no more than $200 in interest or dividends or wages from which tax was not withheld.

People using this cannot itemize deductions. Nevertheless, they wind up with a deduction of 10 per cent.

If your income was under $5,000, you can fill in the card and send it to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) which will figure your tax and send you a bill. Or you can figure the tax yourself by consulting the table on the back of the instruction sheet which IRS provides for every taxpayer. A deduction of around 10 per cent has already been allowed for in the tax.

If your income was under $5,000, you can find it yourself in the taxtable. Or if your income was $5,000 or more but less than $10,000, you figure your tax from the tax-rate schedule in the instruction sheet.

In this case, you take a so-called standard deduction of 10 per cent by deducting that much from your income up to a limit of $1,000 if you're single, or a married couple filing jointly. If you're married, but file a separate return, the limit is $500.

Note: If a husband and wife want to file separate returns, but one wants to itemize deductions, neither can use form 1040A. Both must use 1040 or 1040W and both must itemize.

ON 1040A you can claim each $600 exemption — for yourself and each dependent — you're entitled to. And you can deduct from your income the first $50 of dividend from any stock you own or $100 if your wife owns the stock jointly with you and you are filing a joint return.

Your can't use 1040A if your income was other than the kind described above, such as rent. Nor can you use it if:

You want to claim status as head of household or surviving spouse, which carries a lower tax than is allowed single persons; you want to claim credit for retirement income; you want to deduct sick pay; or you paid an estimated tax during 1959.

The new form 1040W:

Millions will use this because, if they fit the requirements, it's brief You can use it no matter how high your income and even though no tax was withheld from it, provided it was this kind of income:

Wages, salaries, bonuses, tips, and more expense money from the boss than you actually spent, plus not more than $200 in dividends and interest. If your income doesn't fit this picture, and you can't use 1040W, you must use 1040.

On 1040W you can itemize deductions or take the standard 10 per cent deduction. If your income was less than $5,000 and you don't want to itemize deductions, you can find your tax in the taxtable.

On 1040W you can also claim status as head of household or surviving spouse, exclude sick pay and dividends from your income, and claim credit for dividends of estimated tax payments on your 1959 tax.

Remember: If you use 1040W the district director of Internal Revenue will not figure your tax for you, as he will for some people using 1040A.

Form 1040: Anyone can use this one. It's the wide-open tax form. You can itemize deductions or take the standard 10 per cent deduction. For a person using this one, there's no limit on the size or kind of income. For example:

You can report income from farms, businesses, estates, trusts, partnerships, rents, royalties and so on. You can report gains or losses from the sale or exchange of property and claim credit for retirement income.

If you had any of that income, form 1040 is the only one you can use.

Trustees Set Police Funds

St. Clair Township trustees Monday night established a new county court fund to provide payment of costs to township police constables taking cases to the County Courts.

The trustees authorized transfer of $200 from the contingency fund to the new fund as a means of reimbursing the officers who, prior to the termination of the justice of the peace system, used to receive court costs directly.

Under the new County Court system, a part of the court costs are returned to the township, and the new county court fund will receive these payments.

The trustees indicated a special levy will be submitted in the November election to provide for regular pay and an equipment program for township police protection.

Young Opposes Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) is against sharing nuclear weapons with allied nations. He told the Senate Monday the more nations with nuclear weapons, the greater the risk of an atomic war. He said he is particularly opposed to giving nuclear weapons to Germany, "a nation which already has thrust the world into two terrible wars."

Accused Slayer Termed As 'Liar' At Murder Trial

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Billy Joe Schaffer, accused of strangling his former school teacher in a 28-cent robbery, has been described as a psychopath, a braggart and a liar at his first-degree murder trial.

Dr. Hoffman said he came to the conclusion Schaffer was a psychopath during a two-hour interview with the defendant on Feb. 19.

Webster's defines a psychopath as a person afflicted with a mental disorder characterized by emotional instability and perverse conduct.

Schaffer, 25-year-old ex-convict, is accused of strangling Mrs. Emma Remy, 75, at her Ironton home Feb. 21, 1958, then setting fire to the house to concel the crime. He has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

Although not using the term insane, Dr. Hoffman said Schaffer was "sick." He explained that insanity is a legal term, not a medical one.

The psychiatrist said that beneath Schaffer's showy exterior was a meek and mousy personality craving security.

He admitted under cross-examination, however, that in his opinion Schaffer knows right from wrong.

West Virginia's Crime Group Hires Two As Investigators

CHARLESTON (AP)—The state's recently created Crime Commission has hired a former FBI agent and a retired State Police captain as its investigators.

They are R. Lucien Maddex, Charleston attorney, and W. W. Murphy of Elkins. Maddex is a former FBI agent who served as secretary of a special legislative committee which investigated the State Road Commission in 1953.

The two men were named Monday shortly after the commission had chosen as co-chairman Senate Majority Leader Clarence E. Martin Jr. (D-Berkeley) and Del. J. C. Cruikshank (D-Clay). Cruikshank is the sponsor of the resolution under which the commission was set up during the recent session of the Legislature.

The commission plans to meet here within a month with its investigators to establish procedure for its work.

The commission of five senators and five delegates was established to look into gambling and other crime in West Virginia, including possible ties between such activities and local government officials.

The group met for one hour and 40 minutes. It spent most of this time in an executive session from which newsmen were barred.

The commission has the power to subpoena witnesses and records and to punish for contempt.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

Movie Director Decries Actor 'Payola'

The ambition of every actor being to work with William Wyler, one of America's top-ranking directors (he put Ben Hur through his paces), it behooves us to spread the word that actors who deign to do television commercials are risking Wyler's wrath.

Marie Torre

This employment restriction for actors is not, to be sure, just a whim of Wyler's, though he's known to have a few. For years Wyler's artistic sense has been offended by the sight of the actor hawking the sponsor's wares.

"WHAT A TERRIBLY undignified thing to do!" Wyler says of the practice. "Actors cheapen themselves, their profession and the television industry when they step out of character to extol the virtues of cigarettes they don't smoke, or soap they don't use—telling the viewers, in effect, that it's all a payola. That's what it is, isn't it?

"Frankly, when I see actors ending up as salesmen on TV, I hesitate to use them in my films. They ought to know better than permit advertisers to destroy the illusion which is every actor's job to create. Bad practice. Very bad!"

We stumbled on Mr. Wyler's TV commercial sentiments in the course of trying to find out what television might expect from the Hollywood master in the coming months. After all, the success of "Ben Hur" has put Wyler back in the limelight again, and isn't television ALWAYS eager to recruit names from allied fields?

IT ASTONISHED US to hear Mr. Wyler say "I haven't been showered with television offers." He doesn't share our astonishment, however, probably because he has no vaulting ambitions with respect to TV.

"I once did a live television show, and it gave me quite a kick," said Mr. Wyler, "but that's dead now. Everything dies in TV. The show was 'The Letter,' back in 1956. I found the experience interesting.

"Ultimately, I'd have no objection to a once-a-year-show arrangement. But quit pictures for TV? Never! A director can express himself better in motion pictures. There are too many limitations in TV."

Wyle had one more observation on television.

"This is something I noticed at the conclusion of 'The Letter,'" he told us. "At the end of the show, members of the company fell into each other's arms, kissing and congratulating one another simply because there had been no mishaps, the show went off on time, the picture remained in focus, no major technical disasters.

"To my complete amazement, nobody asked whether it was a good show."

Miss Lamarr's attorney, Jack Okin of Newark, N.J., said she "is finding this divorce action an extremely emotional experience. She is afraid to come here because she hasn't made up her mind as to what she could say."

The actress is divorcing oilman W. Howard Lee. Three pre-trial hearings have been scheduled and she failed to show up for any of them. Trial has been set for the week of April 18.

Factory Worker Calmly Throws Away $100 Bills

HAMTRAMCK, Mich. (AP)—A 47-year-old factory worker left a trail of $100 bills—most of his life savings—on a ten-block stroll through this Detroit suburb Monday.

Stephen Krysiak calmly tossed $100 bills to everyone he passed. He tore others into confetti and threw away the scraps. By the time police stopped him Krysiak had distributed or destroyed $13,000.

Krysiak, a Chrysler worker, said he had $20,000 when he started.

When police halted his stroll he was clutching about $5,700 in one hand. In the other—torn to shreds—was another $500 or $600.

Krysiak told police he withdrew the money from his safe deposit box because he was worried about it.

Celebration In Ohio

Family Parted 20 Years Reunited Under Own Roof

WILLOUGHBY HILLS, Ohio (AP)—At 4 a.m. today, the party in the six-room house at 28802 While Road was still noisy, but it was beginning to break up. The two halves of the Armonas family, divided by world war nearly 20 years ago, had been united again under their own roof.

The welcome-home party got a late start. It was about 2:30 a.m. when Police Chief William Thomas escorted the family to the door over which hung a sign with "WELCOME" lettered on it in English and Lithuanian.

Fog locked in Cleveland Hopkins Airport Monday night, and the airliner bringing the Armonas family from New York had to land at Akron - Canton Airport about midnight. That meant a 40-mile limousine ride over roads still snowy and slick in spots.

Mrs. Barbara Armonas, 51, was the first to enter this house of which she'd dreamed but never seen.

Then came her 24-year - old daughter, Donna, whose persistent efforts to free her mother from behind the Iron Curtain were culminated with a direct appeal to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev when he visited Pittsburgh last September. He told her she would see her mother soon.

John Jr., 20, who was trapped in Europe with his mother by World War II, followed across the threshold, and last came the father of the family, John Armonas, 55.

Inside the house a girl presented a tray with bread, salt and two glasses of wine on it. These symbolized for Mrs. Armonas and John an end to hunger and an abundant, happy life.

Mayor Norman R. Sayle of Willoughby Hills made the welcome speech he had waited in vain at Cleveland Hopkins Airport to deliver.

Then there was a delayed Christmas celebration. Donna and her father had kept the Christmas tree up and the gifts wrapped for this occasion.

Among the 50 or more guests who greeted the family and shared in the fun and refreshments were many Lithuanian - speaking friends. This helped mother and son feel more at ease.

The family was brought together in Denmark Saturday and spent Monday in New York City resting from their flight. They looked weary when they arrived at the Canton-Akron Airport and quickly moved into the limousine, declining to talk with reporters.

Mrs. Armonas and her son, then a babe in arms, were visiting relatives in Lithuania in 1940 when Soviet troops occupied the Baltic states. They had to stay there because they were born in Lithuania. Armonas and his daughter, natives of the United States, were evacuated by the State Department.

Donna and her father, both of whom work for the same company, planned the house where today's party was held with their mother in mind. When it was built two years ago, they wanted everything to be convenient for her, Armonas said. Both have worried about her readjustment, because she spent nearly 10 years in a Siberian camp until in broken health she was returned to Lithuania.

Actors Strike Seen Lengthy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A star-studded actors' strike went into a second day today with both sides predicting a long, costly and—as they say in Hollywood—colossal battle.

The strike has shut down production at seven studios. Among the 5,000 workers idled: Marilyn Monroe, Fred Astaire, Bing Crosby, Elizabeth Taylor and Alan Ladd.

Like this tinsel town itself, the strike had its uncommon aspects: no picket lines, no demonstrations and some production continued.

Some, like Frank Sinatra and Tony Curtis, wore two hats—producer and actor—and backed the strikers. Their independent companies have signed contracts with the SAG.

A guild spokesman said the real issue is not double payment for services but the pot o'gold called pay TV. The actors want to set a contract precedent to share in some of the expected wealth.

The guild predicts that a film made exclusively for a pay television showing could return 10 times its cost in a single evening. They want to lay the groundwork now to have actors' pay scaled to the fantastic profits if and when pay TV comes.

Movie Director Decries Actor 'Payola'

The ambition of every actor being to work with William Wyler, one of America's top-ranking directors (he put Ben Hur through his paces), it behooves us to spread the word that actors who deign to do television commercials are risking Wyler's wrath.

Marie Torre

This employment restriction for actors is not, to be sure, just a whim of Wyler's, though he's known to have a few. For years Wyler's artistic sense has been offended by the sight of the actor hawking the sponsor's wares.

"WHAT A TERRIBLY undignified thing to do!" Wyler says of the practice. "Actors cheapen themselves, their profession and the television industry when they step out of character to extol the virtues of cigarettes they don't smoke, or soap they don't use—telling the viewers, in effect, that it's all a payola. That's what it is, isn't it?

"Frankly, when I see actors ending up as salesmen on TV, I hesitate to use them in my films. They ought to know better than permit advertisers to destroy the illusion which is every actor's job to create. Bad practice. Very bad!"

We stumbled on Mr. Wyler's TV commercial sentiments in the course of trying to find out what television might expect from the Hollywood master in the coming months. After all, the success of "Ben Hur" has put Wyler back in the limelight again, and isn't television ALWAYS eager to recruit names from allied fields?

IT ASTONISHED US to hear Mr. Wyler say "I haven't been showered with television offers." He doesn't share our astonishment, however, probably because he has no vaulting ambitions with respect to TV.

"I once did a live television show, and it gave me quite a kick," said Mr. Wyler, "but that's dead now. Everything dies in TV. The show was 'The Letter,' back in 1956. I found the experience interesting.

"Ultimately, I'd have no objection to a once-a-year-show arrangement. But quit pictures for TV? Never! A director can express himself better in motion pictures. There are too many limitations in TV."

Wyle had one more observation on television.

"This is something I noticed at the conclusion of 'The Letter,'" he told us. "At the end of the show, members of the company fell into each other's arms, kissing and congratulating one another simply because there had been no mishaps, the show went off on time, the picture remained in focus, no major technical disasters.

QUESTION for NBC, CBS and ABC: If it's network policy not to run independently produced public affairs programs (the reason given for the rejection of the first-rate "The Race for Space"), why did department heads at each of the networks consent to see the documentary in the first place? . .

A one-man show by Sir Cedric Hardwicke, titled "The Grandeur and Misery of Man," will fill the bill on "Frontiers of Faith" next Sunday . . .

ABC is willing to spend between six and nine million dollars for 200 films in the "Father Knows Best" series. . . .

Hedy Fails To Show Up In Court, Aid Cut

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Actress Hedy Lamarr failed to show up in court Monday for the third time and Domestic Relations Judge Ben Woodall slashed the monthly support her husband pays her from $3,000 to $250.

Miss Lamarr's attorney, Jack Okin of Newark, N.J., said she "is finding this divorce action an extremely emotional experience. She is afraid to come here because she hasn't made up her mind as to what she could say."

The actress is divorcing oilman W. Howard Lee. Three pre-trial hearings have been scheduled and she failed to show up for any of them. Trial has been set for the week of April 18.

Factory Worker Calmly Throws Away $100 Bills

Stephen Krysiak calmly tossed $100 bills to everyone he passed. He tore others into confetti and threw away the scraps. By the time police stopped him Krysiak had distributed or destroyed $13,000.

Krysiak, a Chrysler worker, said he had $20,000 when he started.

When police halted his stroll he was clutching about $5,700 in one hand. In the other—torn to shreds—was another $500 or $600.

Krysiak told police he withdrew the money from his safe deposit box because he was worried about it.

His mother, Sophie Krysiak, said her son has been under treatment for a nervous disorder.

Chambers' son, Walter, 31, and three other passengers in the car were injured, none seriously.

Celebration In Ohio

Family Parted 20 Years Reunited Under Own Roof

WILLOUGHBY HILLS, Ohio (AP)—At 4 a.m. today, the party in the six-room house at 28802 While Road was still noisy, but it was beginning to break up. The two halves of the Armonas family, divided by world war nearly 20 years ago, had been united again under their own roof.

The welcome-home party got a late start. It was about 2:30 a.m. when Police Chief William Thomas escorted the family to the door over which hung a sign with "WELCOME" lettered on it in English and Lithuanian.

Fog locked in Cleveland Hopkins Airport Monday night, and the airliner bringing the Armonas family from New York had to land at Akron-Canton Airport about midnight. That meant a 40-mile limousine ride over roads still snowy and slick in spots.

Mrs. Barbara Armonas, 51, was the first to enter this house of which she'd dreamed but never seen.

Then came her 24-year-old daughter, Donna, whose persistent efforts to free her mother from behind the Iron Curtain were culminated with a direct appeal to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev when he visited Pittsburgh last September. He told her she would see her mother soon.

John Jr., 20, who was trapped in Europe with his mother by World War II, followed across the threshold, and last came the father of the family, John Armonas, 55.

Inside the house a girl presented a tray with bread, salt and two glasses of wine on it. These symbolized for Mrs. Armonas and John an end to hunger and an abundant, happy life.

Mayor Norman R. Sayle of Willoughby Hills made the welcome speech he had waited in vain at Cleveland Hopkins Airport to deliver.

Then there was a delayed Christmas celebration. Donna and her father had kept the Christmas tree up and the gifts wrapped for this occasion.

Among the 50 or more guests who greeted the family and shared in the fun and refreshments were many Lithuanian-speaking friends. This helped mother and son feel more at ease.

The family was brought together in Denmark Saturday and spent Monday in New York City resting from their flight. They looked weary when they arrived at the Canton-Akron Airport and quickly moved into the limousine, declining to talk with reporters.

Mrs. Armonas and her son, then a babe in arms, were visiting relatives in Lithuania in 1940 when Soviet troops occupied the Baltic states. They had to stay there because they were born in Lithuania. Armonas and his daughter, natives of the United States, were evacuated by the State Department.

Donna and her father, both of whom work for the same company, planned the house where today's party was held with their mother in mind. When it was built two years ago, they wanted everything to be convenient for her, Armonas said. Both have worried about her readjustment, because she spent nearly 10 years in a Siberian camp until in broken health she was returned to Lithuania.

Actors Strike Seen Lengthy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A star-studded actors' strike went into a second day today with both sides predicting a long, costly and —as they say in Hollywood—colossal battle.

The strike has shut down production at seven studios. Among the 5,000 workers idled: Marilyn Monroe, Fred Astaire, Bing Crosby, Elizabeth Taylor and Alan Ladd.

Like this tinsel town itself, the strike had its uncommon aspects: no picket lines, no demonstrations and some production continued.

Some, like Frank Sinatra and Tony Curtis, wore two hats—producer and actor—and backed the strikers. Their independent companies have signed contracts with the SAG.

A guild spokesman said the real issue is not double payment for services but the pot o'gold called pay TV. The actors want to set a contract precedent to share in some of the expected wealth.

The guild predicts that a film made exclusively for a pay television showing could return 10 times its cost in a single evening. They want to lay the groundwork now to have actors' pay scaled to the fantastic profits if and when pay TV comes.

Chester VFW Gives $25 To Crippled Child Fund

Hewitt Howard and Huey Stevens were enrolled as members. The post will be represented on birthday calendars being sold by the Purple and Gold Band Mothers.

Utah, DePaul Win Opening Contests In NCAA Tourney

Action Picks Up Tonight At Lexington, New York

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

California and its redoubtable Bear-Hug defense opens a bid for another national basketball championship tonight as the NCAA tournament picks up with a six-game program.

The Bears of Pete Newell, back with a brilliant 24-1 record and a No. 2 national ranking, play Idaho State's Rocky Mountain Conference champs (21-4) in a first-round game in the NCAA's West regional at San Francisco.

The first-round firing in the NCAA tournament began Monday night with Utah's Skyline Conference titlists whipping Southern California 80-73 in a West regional opener at Provo, Utah, and DePaul whipping Air Force 69-63 in a Midwest regional preliminary at Chicago.

A playoff game at Manhattan, Kan., Wednesday night between Big Eight co-champs Kansas and Kansas State,—plus tonight's six first-round games, and the New Mexico State-Oregon game on Wednesday — completes the field of 16 for the four regional semi-finals Friday and Saturday.

Those four survivors advance to the San Francisco Cow Palace for the national NCAA semifinals and finals March 18-19.

Here's the way the regionals will match up March 11:

Eastern at Charlotte, N.C. — Duke-Princeton winner vs St. Joseph's (Pa); West Virginia, Navy winner vs. NYU-Connecticut winner. (St. Joseph's drew first round bye).

West at Seattle—California, Idaho State winner vs. Santa Clara; Utah vs. New Mexico State-Oregon winner. (Santa Clara first round bye.)

Santa Clara (21-8) won the West Coast Athletic Conference's NCAA berth last night, beating Los Angeles Loyola 59-53 after both teams tied for the conference title with 9-3 records.

Only two important non-tournament games were on the Monday schedule. Cincinnati, with Oscar Robertson scoring 25 points and Ralph Davis 27, wound up a 25-1 regular season by routing Xavier of Ohio 86-68.

St. Louis, third-seeded for the National Invitation Tournament opening Thursday in New York, pushed its record to 19-7 by downing Louisville 66-60.

In the 32-team NAIA (small school) tournament at Kansas City, eight more games today complete first-round play. The eight winners in Monday's play were Whittier (Calif), Villa Madonna (Ky.), Savannah, Ga., New Mexico Highlands, Oklahoma Baptist, William Jewell, Grambling (La.) and Southwest Texas State.

Cincinnati Named No. 1 In Final Cage Standings

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's Bearcats, who took the lead in the first weekly balloting last December and held it all the way, today were named No. 1 in The Associated Press' final college basketball poll of the 1959-60 season.

The Bearcats, chosen the nation's top team for the first time since the AP poll began in 1949, rode All-America Oscar Robertson's brilliant play to a 25-1 regular season record, including Monday night's 86-68 victory over Xavier of Ohio.

Cincinnati's only loss was by a point, 91-90 at Bradley Jan. 16. Robertson & Co. wound up regular season play with 12 straight victories as they swept to a third straight Missouri Valley Conference championship and another berth in the NCAA tournament.

Cincinnati collected 92 first-place votes from the 194 sports-writers and sportscasters participating in the final poll. In points, figured on 10 for first, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc. basis, it was 1,832 for Cincinnati to 1,716 for defending NCAA champion California.

Voting was based on games through Saturday, March 6. California, with a 24-1 record and a 15-game winning streak since its only loss, 65-57 to Southern California on Jan. 2, had 46 first-place votes.

144 Teams Remaining In Ohio Tourney Play

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Only 144 of Ohio's 993 high school basketball teams are still alive as the scholastic quintets go into district tournament play on a far-flung front.

Among the 80 Class AA survivors of a starting field of 432 are nine teams which have split up 19 state championships. The 64 Class A survivors of the huge 561-team inaugural field boast seven former state kings.

With only about one-seventh of the starters still on hand, the opinions of sports editors expressed in the final Associated Press poll two weeks ago are holding up well.

Of the Top 10 in Class AA, only three have been eliminated—sixth-place Salem, last year's runner-up for the title; ninth-place Toledo Woodward, and tenth-place Youngstown East.

The Class A Top 10 has lost only two, fifth-place Carthage-Troy and tenth - place Stanton Local. With each division due to be whittled down to 16 teams by Saturday night, more and more of the hot-shots must step aside.

Dayton Roosevelt, rated first in the Class AA poll, and fourth-rated Xenia Central—both former champions and both unbeaten with 20-0 records—are in the four-team Dayton District meet from which only one can emerge.

Canton Timken, third - ranked, and Archbold, 11th, are the only other unbeaten AA teams, Archbold with 19 and Timken with 20 in a row.

Class AA: Cleveland East Tech, 1958, 1959; Middletown, 1944-46-47-52-53-56 and 1957; Columbus East, 1951; Springfield, 1925 and 1950; Newark, 1936, 1938 and 1943; Xenia Central, 1942; Martins Ferry, 1941; Dayton Roosevelt, 1934; and Portsmouth, 1931.

Unbeaten in Class A are top-ranked Northwestern, second-rated New Boston and fourth-ranked Ayersville with 23-0; seventh-ranked Granville with 22-0, and third-place Salem Local of Urbana with 21-0.

NFL Chief Bares Player Plan For New Dallas Club

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pete Rozelle, National Football League commissioner, has evolved a plan for stocking the league's new team at Dallas with 36 experienced players.

Each team would submit to the commissioner a list of 24 players which could not be drafted from its roster. The roster could include any players on the injured list at the end of the 1959 season.

Each club then would submit a secret list of players eligible for draft by Dallas. From this Dallas could select not more than three players from each, and not more than one player from each position.

City League Playoff Game Still Rates As Tossup

USC'S BOB HAMPTON (31) jumps high to clear the boards as his teammate Steve Kemp (12) stands by to help during action in the USC-Utah regional playoff of the NCAA at Provo, Utah Monday night. Utah's Bill Cowan (under basket) also tries for the rebound. Utah won the contest, 80-73. (UPI Telephoto)

Teams Await Wednesday's Contest Here

Despite the delay caused by the inclement weather, things will be as they where when the City League championship game is played Wednesday night at Memorial Auditorium.

The battle between Bob Freed's and Alex's Carry-Out still rates a tossup, since nothing has changed the fact that only three points separated the two teams in two previous contests.

The big difference in the last meeting was Bevo Francis, who poured in 37 points for Freed's.

The one-time national scoring champion who carved his name in the record books at Rio Grande College led the City League in scoring this past season.

Both squads are expected to be at full strength, with the exception of Tom Rodfong, who performs for Freed's. He was injured in a fall at work last weekend.

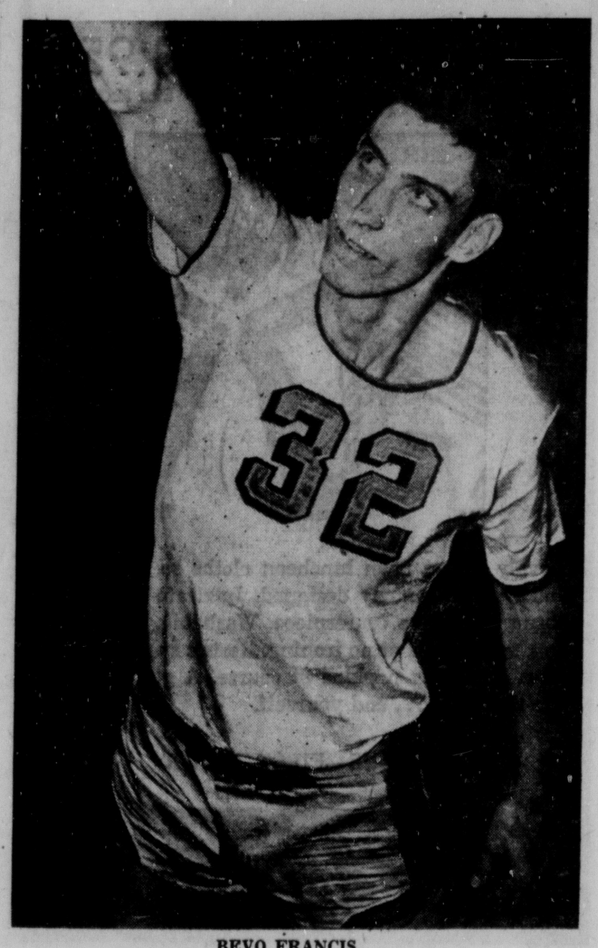

In the last game played between the two squads, Freed's was without the services of set shot artist Frank Chan and George Parfitt. And Alex's didn't have their big threat — Jim Tucker.

The championship battle will get under way at 8, with two Little Potter League games preceeding the main event at 7.

Coca-Cola and Hune Co., both tied for second place in the loop, will meet at 7, while Ogilvie's, the league-leader, and Bob Curran's meet at 7:15. The Little League contests will be sandwiched.

Tickets are on sale at business places in town and will be sold at the door Wednesday. They are $1 for adults and 25 cents for students.

Little Potters Continue Play

Little Potter League action will continue this week at two cities Wednesday and a regular schedule will be played Friday.

Wednesday, the Hune Co.-Coca-Cola game will begin at 7 and the Ogilvie-Curran tilt at 7:15 at Memorial Auditorium as a preliminary to the Alex's-Freed's City Championship battle.

Wednesday afternoon at 4 p. m. in the Broadway gym, First National Bank will meet Frank Dawson's at 4 p. m. while Potters Bank and McNutt Insurance clash at 4:15.

Friday all eight teams will play their regular schedule at the Broadway gym with First National Bank and Potters Bank meeting in the first game at 4. Ogilvie's and Dawson's play at 4:15 Hune Co. and McNutt Insurance at 5 and Coca-Cola and Bob Curran's at 5:15.

Little Potter League Schedule This Week

Wednesday, Broadway Gym
4 — First National Bank vs. Frank Dawson's
4:15 — Potters Bank vs. McNutt Insurance
Wednesday, Memorial Auditorium

Friday, Broadway Gym

Mickey Stays Home

Mantle, Yankees Getting Farther Apart In Talks

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

You'd think between them the wealthy New York Yankees and bowling impressario Mickey Mantle could spare 1.71 for a phone call that might lead them to strike a compromise over the slugging outfielder's salary demands.

The breach between the two parties, however, seems to be getting progressively wider with no immediate hope of either putting through the call between Mantle's Joplin, Mo., home and the Yankees' St. Petersburg, Fla., spring training camp.

Mantle, continuing firm in his holdout siege, threw the most recent barb in the dispute Monday. "I honestly don't believe I'll be getting to St. Petersburg this year," he said.

George Weiss, general manager of the New York club, said with finality last week the club was through trying to negotiate with Mantle, who slumped to a .285 batting average last year and drove in only 75 runs as the Yankees fell to third place.

The difference between the Yanks and Mantle amounts to quite a bit. Mantle has said he is willing to take a cut, but nothing near the reported $15,000 slice the Yanks want to take out of his estimated 1959 salary of $75,000.

A trade rumor also began at the Yankee camp when Detroit General Manager Rick Ferrell came in. The proposed deal would send a pitcher, probably Paul Foytack, to New York for infielder Gil McDougald and a first baseman, either Kent Hadley or Frank Leja.

Right - handed relief specialist George Zuverink, who has kicked around the majors for a number of years, is getting a trial with the San Francisco Giants, who were weak in the bull pen last season.

The St. Louis Cardinals were impressed by two of their newly acquired hands Monday. Shortstop Daryl Spencer, obtained from San Francisco, collected four singles and drove in four runs in an intrasquad game. Righty Ron Kline, with Pittsburgh in 1959, followed up a two-inning hitless performance Saturday with two more perfect frames.

Tigers On Hunt For Relief Stars

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—"Just look at the record," said Tom Ferrick today. "The Chicago White Sox won 35 games by the margin of one run. That's because they had Gerry Staley and Turk Lown."

The Detroit Tigers, on the other hand, led the American League in games lost by one run. They dropped 27 of them because their bullpen, from start to finish, was a major headache.

Ferrick, the Tigers' new pitching coach, is scouting the Detroit training camp for a tougher bullpen. There are a dozen candidates to back up the starting corps.

"We need a spot starter, a long relief man and a couple of short reliefers—guys who can go in there and stop a team for an inning or two. We can't be a contender until we find them," said Ferrick.

Ike And Aides Criticized By Wildlife Unit

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—President Eisenhower and his administration came under fire Monday as the 25th North American Wildlife & Natural Resources Conference opened.

Gabrielson traced the presidential veto of the Water Pollution Act, calling for aid in cleaning up the nation's water, to opposition by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and National Assn. of Manufacturers.

"Apparently, their influence is more potent with the administration than that of the millions of Americans who must continue to tolerate polluted water because of a penny-wise, pound-foolish budget economy," Gabrielson charged.

Conservationists, on the other hand, were heartened by the administration's proposal to augment land in the conservation reserve of the soil bank, he said.

"It is hoped this marks the beginning of the end of the payment of subsidies for drainage, land clearing and other practices that are destructive of wildlife values and add to the overall farm problem," Gabrielson added.

Luke Appling, two - time American League batting champion, will be a coach with the Detroit Tigers this season.

Tag Team Bouts Feature Mat Show

Four matches featured by two tag team bouts will be staged Friday at 8:30 at Canton's Memorial Auditorium.

In another feature, a girls tag team match will pit Babs Wingo and Marva Scott against Kathleen Wimbley and Ethel Johnson.

Veteran American League empires who will be missing during the 1960 are Ed Rommel and Bill Summers. Both retired after last season.

Sportsmen's Club Plans Rifle Range

Discussion on establishing a rifle range was held at a meeting of the Chester-Newell Farmers and Sportsmen's Club Monday night at the Chester City Hall.

Action Picks Up Tonight At Lexington, New York

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

California and its redoubtable Bear-Hug defense opens a bid for another national basketball championship tonight as the NCAA tournament picks up with a six-game program.

The Bears of Pete Newell, back with a brilliant 24-1 record and a No. 2 national ranking, play Idaho State's Rocky Mountain Conference champs (21-4) in a first-round game in the NCAA's West regional at San Francisco.

The first-round firing in the NCAA tournament began Monday night with Utah's Skyline Conference titlists whipping Southern California 80-73 in a West regional opener at Provo, Utah, and DePaul whipping Air Force 69-63 in a Midwest regional preliminary at Chicago.

A playoff game at Manhattan, Kan., Wednesday night between Big Eight co-champs Kansas and Kansas State,—plus tonight's six first-round games, and the New Mexico State-Oregon game on Wednesday — completes the field of 16 for the four regional semi-finals Friday and Saturday.

Those four survivors advance to the San Francisco Cow Palace for the national NCAA semifinals and finals March 18-19.

Eastern at Charlotte, N.C. — Duke-Princeton winner vs St. Joseph's (Pa); West Virginia, Navy winner vs. NYU-Connecticut winner. (St. Joseph's drew first round bye).

West at Seattle—California, Idaho State winner vs. Santa Clara; Utah vs. New Mexico State-Oregon winner. (Santa Clara first round bye.)

Santa Clara (21-8) won the West Coast Athletic Conference's NCAA berth last night, beating Los Angeles Loyola 59-53 after both teams tied for the conference title with 9-3 records.

Only two important non-tournament games were on the Monday schedule. Cincinnati, with Oscar Robertson scoring 25 points and Ralph Davis 27, wound up a 25-1 regular season by routing Xavier of Ohio 86-66.

St. Louis, third-seeded for the National Invitation Tournament opening Thursday in New York, pushed its record to 19-7 by downing Louisville 66-60.

In the 32-team NAIA (small school) tournament at Kansas City, eight more games today complete first-round play. The eight winners in Monday's play were Whittier (Calif), Villa Madonna (Ky.), Savannah, Ga., New Mexico Highlands, Oklahoma Baptist, William Jewell, Grambling (La.) and Southwest Texas State.

Cincinnati Named No. 1 In Final Cage Standings

By MURRAY ROSE

Cincinnati's Bearcats, who took the lead in the first weekly balloting last December and held it all the way, today were named No. 1 in The Associated Press' final college basketball poll of the 1959-60 season.

The Bearcats, chosen the nation's top team for the first time since the AP poll began in 1949, rode All-America Oscar Robertson's brilliant play to a 25-1 regular season record, including Monday night's 86-66 victory over Xavier of Ohio.

Cincinnati's only loss was by a point, 91-90 at Bradley Jan. 16. Robertson & Co. wound up regular season play with 12 straight victories as they swept to a third straight Missouri Valley Conference championship and another berth in the NCAA tournament.

Cincinnati collected 92 first-place votes from the 194 sports-writers and sportscasters participating in the final poll. In points, figured on 10 for first, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc. basis, it was 1,832 for Cincinnati to 1,716 for defending NCAA champion California.

NFL Chief Bares Player Plan For New Dallas Club

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pete Rozelle, National Football League commissioner, has evolved a plan for stocking the league's new team at Dallas with 36 experienced players.

Here's how the Rozelle proposal, which may be submitted for ratification this weekend at the NFL meeting in Los Angeles, would involve the clubs:

Each team would submit to the commissioner a list of 24 players which could not be drafted from its roster. The roster could include any players on the injured list at the end of the 1959 season.

Each club then would submit a secret list of players eligible for draft by Dallas. From this Dallas could select not more than three players from each, and not more than one player from each position.

Mickey Stays Home

Mantle, Yankees Getting Farther Apart In Talks

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

You'd think between them the wealthy New York Yankees and bowling impressario Mickey Mantle could spare 1.71 for a phone call that might lead them to strike a compromise over the slugging outfielder's salary demands.

The breach between the two parties, however, seems to be getting progressively wider with no immediate hope of either putting through the call between Mantle's Joplin, Mo., home and the Yankees' St. Petersburg, Fla., spring training camp.

Mantle, continuing firm in his holdout siege, threw the most recent barb in the dispute Monday. "I honestly don't believe I'll be getting to St. Petersburg this year," he said.

George Weiss, general manager of the New York club, said with finality last week the club was through trying to negotiate with Mantle, who slumped to a .285 batting average last year and drove in only 75 runs as the Yankees fell to third place.

The difference between the Yanks and Mantle amounts to quite a bit. Mantle has said he is willing to take a cut, but nothing near the reported $15,000 slice the Yanks want to take out of his estimated 1959 salary of $75,000.

A trade rumor also began at the Yankee camp when Detroit General Manager Rick Ferrell came in. The proposed deal would send a pitcher, probably Paul Foytack, to New York for infielder Gil McDougald and a first baseman, either Kent Hadley or Frank Leja.

Right-handed relief specialist George Zuverink, who has kicked around the majors for a number of years, is getting a trial with the San Francisco Giants, who were weak in the bull pen last season.

The St. Louis Cardinals were impressed by two of their newly acquired hands Monday. Shortstop Daryl Spencer, obtained from San Francisco, collected four singles and drove in four runs in an intrasquad game. Righty Ron Kline, with Pittsburgh in 1959, followed up a two-inning hitless performance Saturday with two more perfect frames.

Ike And Aides Criticized By Wildlife Unit

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—President Eisenhower and his administration came under fire Monday as the 25th North American Wildlife & Natural Resources Conference opened.

About 1,000 conservation champions and outdoors lovers heard Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, president of the Wildlife Management Institute, open the three-day meeting.

Gabrielson traced the presidential veto of the Water Pollution Act, calling for aid in cleaning up the nation's water, to opposition by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and National Assn. of Manufacturers.

"Apparently, their influence is more potent with the administration than that of the millions of Americans who must continue to tolerate polluted water because of a penny-wise, pound-foolish budget economy," Gabrielson charged.

Conservationists, on the other hand, were heartened by the administration's proposal to augment land in the conservation reserve of the soil bank, he said.

"It is hoped this marks the beginning of the end of the payment of subsidies for drainage, land clearing and other practices that are destructive of wildlife values and add to the overall farm problem," Gabrielson added.

Luke Appling, two - time American League batting champion, will be a coach with the Detroit Tigers this season.

Teams Await Wednesday's Contest Here

Despite the delay caused by the inclement weather, things will be as they where when the City League championship game is played Wednesday night at Memorial Auditorium.

The battle between Bob Freed's and Alex's Carry-Out still rates a tossup, since nothing has changed the fact that only three points separated the two teams in two previous contests.

Alex's won the first-half championship by handing Freed's a 62-60 defeat in a double overtime and Freed's captured the second game, 63-62.

The big difference in the last meeting was Bevo Francis, who poured in 37 points for Freed's.

The one-time national scoring champion who carved his name in the record books at Rio Grande College led the City League in scoring this past season.

Both squads are expected to be at full strength, with the exception of Tom Rodfong, who performs for Freed's. He was injured in a fall at work last weekend.

In the last game played between the two squads, Freed's was without the services of set shot artist Frank Chan and George Parfitt. And Alex's didn't have their big threat — Jim Tucker.

The championship battle will get under way at 8, with two Little Potter League games preceeding the main event at 7.

Coca-Cola and Hune Co., both tied for second place in the loop, will meet at 7, while Ogilvie's, the league-leader, and Bob Curran's meet at 7:15. The Little League contests will be sandwiched.

The championship game is being sponsored by the Little Potters League, with proceeds going toward the construction of a basketball court at Thompson Park.

Tickets are on sale at business places in town and will be sold at the door Wednesday. They are $1 for adults and 25 cents for students.

Tigers On Hunt For Relief Stars

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—"Just look at the record," said Tom Ferrick today. "The Chicago White Sox won 35 games by the margin of one run. That's because they had Gerry Staley and Turk Lown."

The Detroit Tigers, on the other hand, led the American League in games lost by one run. They dropped 27 of them because their bullpen, from start to finish, was a major headache.

Ferrick, the Tigers' new pitching coach, is scouting the Detroit training camp for a tougher bullpen. There are a dozen candidates to back up the starting corps.

"We need a spot starter, a long relief man and a couple of short reliefers—guys who can go in there and stop a team for an inning or two. We can't be a contender until we find them," said Ferrick.

Wednesday afternoon at 4 p. m. in the Broadway gym, First National Bank will meet Frank Dawson's at 4 p. m. while Potters Bank and McNutt Insurance clash at 4:15.

Friday all eight teams will play their regular schedule at the Broadway gym with First National Bank and Potters Bank meeting in the first game at 4. Ogilvie's and Dawson's play at 4:15 Hune Co. and McNutt Insurance at 5 and Coca-Cola and Bob Curran's at 5:15.

Ogilvie's is currently leading the league with a 4-0 record.

Tribe Hurler High Paid For Batting Drills

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Michael Randall Lee, 18, a 6-foot-5, 240-pound rookie southpaw from Maywood, Calif., may give the Cleveland Indians the distinction of having the highest paid batting practice pitcher in the major leagues this season.

The youngster will be drawing pay from two sources. The San Francisco Giants must continue to pay his $80,000 bonus for the next three years, even though the Indians drafted him last November for $15,000.

Because he was drafted, Lee must remain with Cleveland this year before he can be optioned for more experience without waivers. As things are stacking up now, his main job will be to pitch batting practice.

Last season he won 7 and lost 19 for Fresno in a Class C league after the Giants had signed him for that big bonus. He struck out 160, walked 202 and had an earned run average of 6.06 for 162 innings.

"I suppose the Giants figured no one would draft me because of my lousy record," Lee said. "I'd feel pretty discouraged if they quit on me as a prospect."

Whether the Giants let him go inadvertently or on purpose, Lee's future is now with Cleveland, and he's anxious to make up for his disappointing initial year in professional baseball.

"I just don't want to be known as the baby who killed the bonus system," he said. "I'd like to earn every cent of the money I got."

Coach Mel Harder thinks Lee has "come a long way in the last week," and adds that "all he needs is instruction because he was doing everything wrong."

Harder believes Lee may have to sacrifice some of his blazing speed to get proper rhythm and coordination. How much of it is the big question.

Little League Baseball Meeting Is Called Off

Because of the City League championship basketball game, the Little League baseball meeting will not be held Wednesday. The league will meet on March 16 at the Travelers Hotel.

Top Scorers Lead M-A Five

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Jimmy Darrow of Bowling Green and John Milhoan of Marshall, the two top scorers of the Mid-American Conference, are the only unanimous choices on the all-conference basketball team named today by loop coaches.

Howard Jolliff of Ohio University, the number one rebounder in the conference, missed by only one first-team ballot. He is a junior, Darrow and Milhoan are seniors.

The other first team choices are juniors Oliver Wallace of Kent State and Bunk Adams of conference champion Ohio U.

For Darrow it was the third straight year he gained unanimous honors, making him the first player in MAC history so recognized. The Akron product set nine new conference records and became the all-time MAC scorer with 371 points in 12 games.

Jolliff paced Ohio U. To its first MAC championship, collecting close to 20 rebounds per game while scoring at a 16.8 clip. The 6-foot-6 Jolliff comes from Canton.

Wallace joins Darrow as the only repeaters from last season's selections. The Middletown junior had a 19.2 scoring average this season and was among the leaders in rebounding and field goal and free throw percentages.

Adams moves up to the first team after being a second team choice last season. The Toledo junior had a 16.8 scoring average.

Honorable mention went to Larry Kruger, Ohio U.; Vern Lawson, Miami; Charlie Boykin, Kent State; Sam Dey, Western Michigan; Rex Leach, Bowling Green; Bob Bolton, Western Michigan; Bernie Cabey, Toledo, and Jerry Galicki, Toledo.

Vandals Threaten Coach At Illinois High School

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Springfield Board of Education says it may bar the public from future basketball games featuring Springfield High School, Illinois state champions last year.

The board's action Monday night stemmed from the harassment of the school's basketball coach, Ray Page, and his family. The trouble, it appears, is the result of the team's continued good showing this year.

Recently vandals broke windowns in Page's home. Earlier, dows in Page's home. Earlier, tires on his car had been slashed and the convertible top damaged. The family has been bothered by mysterious threatening telephone calls.

Page, 38, expressed bewilderment about the vandalism and harassment. However, he said his team's record of 25 wins and 4 losses may be the cause. There are three other high schools in Springfield.

He said an anonymous caller recently told him if the team won any games at the sectional tournament this week "you have only a sample of what's going to happen to you."

Girls Show Boys How To Win At Saltsburg, Pa.

This year was no fluke. The girls have a 38-1 record for the past three years. The boys have 9-59.

Hard work at practice and definite training rules are the secret says Mrs. Mary Lee Cunningham, coach of the girls at the western Pennsylvania school.

OSU Cagers Honored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An appreciation dinner was held Monday night for the Ohio State University basketball squad, headed this week for the NCAA regional tournament at Louisville, Ky., with a 21-3 record. The Buckeyes decided to wait until completing tourney play before naming a captain and most valuable player.

O'Toole, Hook Keys To Reds Mound Staff

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds figure they have bolstered their pitching staff with the acquisition of Cal McLish and Bill Henry but still two key figures in the team's pitching hopes are youthful Jay Hook and Jimmy O'Toole.

Last year O'Toole spent the entire season with the Reds and wound up with only a 5-8 record and a sorry 5.16 earned run average. Hook came in late and had both good and bad performances.

Monday the two youngsters were given a chance in the first intra-squad game. The result—one good, one very ragged.

Hook allowed only two hits in four innings, struck out two and didn't walk a man. O'Toole, however, gave up two runs, four walks and four hits.

He was in trouble much of the time because of inability to locate the strike zone—an ailment that plagued him frequently last season.

Former New York Yankee pitching coach Jim Turner, who is helping with the Reds' conditioning, is confident Hook will turn out to be the hurler the Reds have been looking for.

"He's got all the tools needed to be a great one," said Turner. "His fast ball moves real well and since he shortened his stride, his curve ball really explodes."

Manager Fred Hutchinson said he plans another intra-squad game Wednesday, probably the last before the Reds open their exhibition season Saturday against the Chicago White Sox.

Georgia Grid Aide Found Dead; Was Missing 2 Days

His body was discovered in his home Monday. The coroner said he had been dead at least two days.

Whitworth, last seen Wednesday, was not missed because he was scheduled to make a recruiting trip last Thursday. University offices were closed Thursday, Friday and Saturday because of severe weather.

Mrs. Whitworth was in New York visiting.

A native of Blytheville, Ark., Whitworth served as assistant coach at Alabama, Louisiana State University and Georgia before head coaching stints at Oklahoma A&M and Alabama. He returned to Georgia a year ago as line coach.

He is survived by his widow, Virginia; and one son, Jennings Bryan Jr., a student at the University of Alabama.

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—"I'm a good-natured, peace-loving guy and if they ever try to make a villain out of me, I'll quit pro wrestling."

It was mustachioed Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb speaking. The 6-7, 297-pound tackle of the Baltimore Colts is unbeaten in 37 matches in his new off-season occupation as a mat monster.

His manager, John Swenski, says Big Daddy is wrestling about five times a week, receives 8 per cent of the net gate and could make more than $60,000 this year.

Big Daddy was in town warming up publicity drums for his Chicago Stadium wrestling debut Saturday night. He meets Cowboy O'Toole and Rocky Lee, taking them on one after the other.

"Big D, how come you are unbeaten but have been wrestling only since Jan. 23? Are the matches rigged?"

"I've learned a lot from Don Joyce (his Colt teammate who has been a pro matman since 1956). I just go out there and do my best. All I'm told is to go out and win. When they tell me to go out there and gouge out somebody's eyes or stick my fist into somebody's teeth, I'll quit."

"Big D, are you the good guy or bad guy?"

"Big D, do you have any favorite holds?"

"Not especially. Guess I like the bear hug best of all."

"They say I can continue as long as I don't get hurt."

Lucas Wins Big 10 All-Games Scoring

CHICAGO (AP)—All - America Jerry Lucas of Ohio State won the Big Ten all-games basketball scoring race, nosing out Terry Dischinger of Purdue by nine points.

Horace Walker of Michigan State was a distant third with 473 points in 21 games and a 22.5 average and Walt Bellamy of Indiana followed with 537 points in 24 games and a 22.3 average.

Tribe Hurler High Paid For Batting Drills

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Michael Randall Lee, 18, a 6-foot-5, 240-pound rookie southpaw from Maywood, Calif., may give the Cleveland Indians the distinction of having the highest paid batting practice pitcher in the major leagues this season.

The youngster will be drawing pay from two sources. The San Francisco Giants must continue to pay his $80,000 bonus for the next three years, even though the Indians drafted him last November for $15,000.

Because he was drafted, Lee must remain with Cleveland this year before he can be optioned for more experience without waivers. As things are stacking up now, his main job will be to pitch batting practice.

Last season he won 7 and lost 19 for Fresno in a Class C league after the Giants had signed him for that big bonus. He struck out 160, walked 202 and had an earned run average of 6.06 for 162 innings.

"I suppose the Giants figured no one would draft me because of my lousy record," Lee said. "I'd feel pretty discouraged if they quit on me as a prospect."

Whether the Giants let him go inadvertently or on purpose, Lee's future is now with Cleveland, and he's anxious to make up for his disappointing initial year in professional baseball.

"I just don't want to be known as the baby who killed the bonus system," he said. "I'd like to earn every cent of the money I got."

Coach Mel Harder thinks Lee has "come a long way in the last week," and adds that "all he needs is instruction because he was doing everything wrong."

Scout Dario Lodigiani said Lee "could throw a ball through a barn door—if he could hit the door."

Harder believes Lee may have to sacrifice some of his blazing speed to get proper rhythm and coordination. How much of it is the big question.

Little League Baseball Meeting Is Called Off

Because of the City League championship basketball game, the Little League baseball meeting will not be held Wednesday. The league will meet on March 16 at the Travelers Hotel.

Top Scorers Lead M-A Five

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Jimmy Darrow of Bowling Green and John Milhoan of Marshall, the two top scorers of the Mid-American Conference, are the only unanimous choices on the all-conference basketball team named today by loop coaches.

Howard Jolliff of Ohio University, the number one rebounder in the conference, missed by only one first-team ballot. He is a junior, Darrow and Milhoan are seniors.

The other first team choices are juniors Oliver Wallace of Kent State and Bunk Adams of conference champion Ohio U.

For Darrow it was the third straight year he gained unanimous honors, making him the first player in MAC history so recognized. The Akron product set nine new conference records and became the all-time MAC scorer with 371 points in 12 games.

Jolliff paced Ohio U. To its first MAC championship, collecting close to 20 rebounds per game while scoring at a 16.8 clip. The 6-foot-6 Jolliff comes from Canton.

Wallace joins Darrow as the only repeaters from last season's selections. The Middletown junior had a 19.2 scoring average this season and was among the leaders in rebounding and field goal and free throw percentages.

Adams moves up to the first team after being a second team choice last season. The Toledo junior had a 16.8 scoring average.

Honorable mention went to Larry Kruger, Ohio U.; Vern Lawson, Miami; Charlie Boykin, Kent State; Sam Dey, Western Michigan; Rex Leach, Bowling Green; Bob Bolton, Western Michigan; Bernie Cabey, Toledo, and Jerry Galicki, Toledo.

Vandals Threaten Coach At Illinois High School

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Springfield Board of Education says it may bar the public from future basketball games featuring Springfield High School, Illinois state champions last year.

The board's action Monday night stemmed from the harassment of the school's basketball coach, Ray Page, and his family. The trouble, it appears, is the result of the team's continued good showing this year.

Recently vandals broke windowns in Page's home. Earlier, dows in Page's home. Earlier, tires on his car had been slashed and the convertible top damaged. The family has been bothered by mysterious threatening telephone calls.

Page, 38, expressed bewilderment about the vandalism and harassment. However, he said his team's record of 25 wins and 4 losses may be the cause. There are three other high schools in Springfield.

He said an anonymous caller recently told him if the team won any games at the sectional tournament this week "you have only a sample of what's going to happen to you."

Girls Show Boys How To Win At Saltsburg, Pa.

At Saltsburg High School the girls' team posted a 10-0 record this season while the boys lost all 23 of their games.

This year was no fluke. The girls have a 38-1 record for the past three years. The boys have 9-59.

Hard work at practice and definite training rules are the secret says Mrs. Mary Lee Cunningham, coach of the girls at the western Pennsylvania school.

Roy Lytle, the boys' coach, says his team continues to lose because of "lack of interest, lack of experience or no standout ballplayers."

But despite the difference in records, the girls do not look down on their basketball inferiors.

OSU Cagers Honored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An appreciation dinner was held Monday night for the Ohio State University basketball squad, headed this week for the NCAA regional tournament at Louisville, Ky., with a 21-3 record. The Buckeyes decided to wait until completing tourney play before naming a captain and most valuable player.

Washington outfielder Bob Allison hit 17 of his 30 home runs in 1959 after the fifth inning.

FIGHT RESULTS

Philadelphia — Arthur Persley, 138, New Orleans, outpointed Jerry Black, 139½, Philadelphia (10).

O'Toole, Hook Keys To Reds Mound Staff

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds figure they have bolstered their pitching staff with the acquisition of Cal McLish and Bill Henry but still two key figures in the team's pitching hopes are youthful Jay Hook and Jimmy O'Toole.

Last year O'Toole spent the entire season with the Reds and wound up with only a 5-8 record and a sorry 5.16 earned run average. Hook came in late and had both good and bad performances.

Monday the two youngsters were given a chance in the first intra-squad game. The result—one good, one very ragged.

Hook allowed only two hits in four innings, struck out two and didn't walk a man. O'Toole, however, gave up two runs, four walks and four hits.

He was in trouble much of the time because of inability to locate the strike zone—an ailment that plagued him frequently last season.

It was particularly disappointing because O'Toole figured to have gained by pitching 130 innings of winter baseball.

Former New York Yankee pitching coach Jim Turner, who is helping with the Reds' conditioning, is confident Hook will turn out to be the hurler the Reds have been looking for.

"He's got all the tools needed to be a great one," said Turner. "His fast ball moves real well and since he shortened his stride, his curve ball really explodes."

Manager Fred Hutchinson said he plans another intra-squad game Wednesday, probably the last before the Reds open their exhibition season Saturday against the Chicago White Sox.

Georgia Grid Aide Found Dead; Was Missing 2 Days

His body was discovered in his home Monday. The coroner said he had been dead at least two days.

Whitworth, last seen Wednesday, was not missed because he was scheduled to make a recruiting trip last Thursday. University offices were closed Thursday, Friday and Saturday because of severe weather.

Mrs. Whitworth was in New York visiting.

A native of Blytheville, Ark., Whitworth served as assistant coach at Alabama, Louisiana State University and Georgia before head coaching stints at Oklahoma A&M and Alabama. He returned to Georgia a year ago as line coach.

He is survived by his widow, Virginia; and one son, Jennings Bryan Jr., a student at the University of Alabama.

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—"I'm a good-natured, peace-loving guy and if they ever try to make a villain out of me, I'll quit pro wrestling."

It was mustachioed Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb speaking. The 6-7, 297-pound tackle of the Baltimore Colts is unbeaten in 37 matches in his new off-season occupation as a mat monster.

His manager, John Swenski, says Big Daddy is wrestling about five times a week, receives 8 per cent of the net gate and could make more than $60,000 this year.

Big Daddy was in town warming up publicity drums for his Chicago Stadium wrestling debut Saturday night. He meets Cowboy O'Toole and Rocky Lee, taking them on one after the other.

"Big D, how come you are unbeaten but have been wrestling only since Jan. 23? Are the matches rigged?"

"I've learned a lot from Don Joyce (his Colt teammate who has been a pro matman since 1956). I just go out there and do my best. All I'm told is to go out and win. When they tell me to go out there and gouge out somebody's eyes or stick my fist into somebody's teeth, I'll quit."

"Big D, are you the good guy or bad guy?"

"I don't know what you mean, except if they ever try to make me a villain, I'll quit."

"Big D, do you have any favorite holds?"

"Not especially. Guess I like the bear hug best of all."

"They say I can continue as long as I don't get hurt."

"Big D, do you have any gimmicks, like wearing a leopard skin?"

Lucas Wins Big 10 All-Games Scoring

Horace Walker of Michigan State was a distant third with 473 points in 21 games and a 22.5 average and Walt Bellamy of Indiana followed with 537 points in 24 games and a 22.3 average.

Liquor Director Orders Money Banked Saturday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—From now on, the money will go into the bank on Saturday nights.

Crouch said "we will instruct managers to make (bank) deposits on Saturday nights, with local police escort, or use Brink's armored car service." He estimated about 200 to 250 of the state's 300 or more liquor stores will be affected by the order.

The latest theft occurred this past weekend when burglars carted off a safe containing about $5,000 from a liquor store in Canton. One liquor store in Warren has had its safe stolen twice since December. A safe also was taken from a Youngstown liquor store in December.

During his lifetime, Andrew Carnegie gave away nearly a third of a billion dollars. His estate amounted to less than 13 million dollars.

2 IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Louise Wright. In loving memory of our dear wife and mother who died 1 year ago. We did not know the pain you had or hear your final sigh. We only know you passed away without a last goodby. Gone, gone, forever. How we miss your smiling face. But you left us to remember, none on earth could take your place. A happy home we once enjoyed, how sweet the memory still, but death has left loneliness, The world can never fill.

Liquor Director Orders Money Banked Saturday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—From now on, the money will go into the bank on Saturday nights.

Crouch said "we will instruct managers to make (bank) deposits on Saturday nights, with local police escort, or use Brink's armored car service." He estimated about 200 to 250 of the state's 300 or more liquor stores will be affected by the order.

The rash of burglaries followed a shift from burglar alarm protection to theft insurance last summer.

The latest theft occurred this past weekend when burglars carted off a safe containing about $5,000 from a liquor store in Canton. One liquor store in Warren has had its safe stolen twice since December. A safe also was taken from a Youngstown liquor store in December.

2 IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Louise Wright. In loving memory of our dear wife and mother who died 1 year ago. We did not know the pain you had or hear your final sigh. We only know you passed away without a last goodby. Gone, gone, forever. How we miss your smiling face. But you left us to remember, none on earth could take your place. A happy home we once enjoyed, how sweet the memory still, but death has left loneliness, The world can never fill.

At Child Counseling Center Dinner

Parents' Problems Are Discussed

The problems that go with being a parent were outlined Monday night as the Child Counseling Center held its annual dinner meeting.

Some 110 attended the event in the banquet hall of St. Aloysius School.

Presenting "Parents As People" was Robert J. Hiltner, administrative assistant and psychiatric social worker at the Pittsburgh Child Guidance Center. His remarks followed a brief business meeting during which Mrs. Lilyan Alpern, Paul Blair and Dale Allison of Chester were named to three-year terms on the center's board of directors. Mrs. Alpern and Blair wer ere-elected to the posts.

THE CENTER'S role in the community and the manner in which it functions were outlined during brief remarks by three of those actively engaged in its program. Blair, vice president, led off the discussion with "Our Challenge At The Center." Mrs. H. Russell Smith of the Advisory Council followed with "Meeting That Challenge" and Cornell P. Monda, psychologist, reviewed a case history in "A Client Comes To The Center".

The invocation was by the Rev. Thomas Mulhearn of St. Aloysius Church and the benediction by the Rev. James E. Hunton of the First Church of the Nazarene.

Hiltner, in emphasizing the adult phase of emotional situations in the home, said "we must recognize that parents too are individuals who may have difficulties in carrying out their job as parents".

"This fact has implications not only for the understanding of children's problems, but for treatment and prevention as well," he explained.

"In the area of treatment, it is not enough to focus efforts solely on the child. We must think in terms of help for the family. Likewise, preventive efforts focused solely on the child will be of limited success."

THE FIRST such factor he called "cultural conflicts". "Among problems on this level," he said, "that may produce stress and interference are difficulties arising from the rapid changes we have witnessed in our society during the past few generations, the increased mobility of families and problems that result from acumulation . . ."

He characterized problems at this level as resulting from the fact that "things are not always the way they used to be".

"Such general problems of our society as racial and religious discrimination, slums, illegitimacy and the like may have particular effect on a particular family," he declared.

The next level of problems was described as those "resulting from interpersonal conflicts between parents"; for example, "if one parent expects the child to be one thing and behaves accordingly and the other expects something different and demands it".

"Not only is the child going to be confused, but the influence of parents will be undermined by each other."

The final group of problems that may undermine parenting was pictured as those "which fall under the heading of intra-personal conflicts" — the individual parents' own emotional conflicts.

Former City Man Awaits Response To New Record

Tom Calhoun of Youngstown, formerly of Dresden Ave., entered the recording field with the release of two ballad-type numbers on the "Tobar" label. One side of the record is "Haunted," while "Sunshine Girl" is on the other.

The "Tobar" firm of Youngstown, which released its first recording, is headed by Jordan Bartholomew, the singer's manager. Calhoun has been in the singing-acting field for about 8 years and studied voice here under Geraldine Ikert.

He has been featured in a Youngstown Playhouse musical and has sung at various record hops around Youngstown and East Palestine. He also has been engaged in television work in Cleveland.

The blonde-haired son of Henry Calhoun of the Old Salineville Rd. near Wellsville was graduated in 1951 from East Liverpool High School, where he was active in glee clubs and choirs.

Calhoun's record is being distributed by the Concord Music Co. of Cleveland. "Haunted" was written by Thelma Erhardt of Youngstown, Calhoun's coach.

5 Truck Bids To Be Studied

Five offers to supply the city a new half-ton truck for the incinerator department were taken under consideration when the Board of Control opened bids Monday afternoon in Mayor Bert H. Goodballet's office.

The apparent low bidder was Mackall Motors, which offered a 1960 Dodge for $1,772 with delivery promised within 30 days.

Parsons Sales & Service offered a 1960 Studebaker Lark for $1,795.86; Mike Turk, Inc., asked $1,825 for a 1960 Chevrolet, and Carroll Motor Sales submitted a bid of $1,934.20 for a 1960 Ford.

Wimmer Motor Sales submitted 2 bids, asking $1,975 for a 1960 GMC with delivery in a few days and $2,035 for another model with delivery in 2 weeks.

City Council has appropriated $2,500 for the truck, which will be turned over to the incinerator department for a truck being made available for Robert Croyle, the city's new part-time dog warden.

The board is composed of the mayor and Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver.

1958 Miss America's June Wedding Is Off

Miss Vanderbur, student at Colrado University, announced Monday she had broken her engagement with Gary Nady, 26, a CU graduate student and former varsity football player.

"She told me she wants to pursue a career in television," Nady said.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has had 2,035 speaking invitations since taking office a year ago last January. But he says he has accepted only 108 of them—through this April.

Charges Dismissed

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Ray B. Watters dismissed charges of possessing gambling devices against Ralph B. Smith, 43, Monday on grounds Smith was indicted under a wrong statute. In a 21-page opinion, Judge Watters contended pinball machines seized in a raid and alleggedly owned by Smith were not within the felony law. Prosecutor John S. Ballard said he would appeal in the decision "to the Supreme Court if necessary."

KKKs Scratched On Chest, Stomach

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Four masked white youths hung a Negro man from a tree by his heels Monday night and scratched two series of KKKs into his chest and stomach after beating him with chains, the Negro told police.

Felton Turner, 27, said he freed himself from ropes around his ankles and wrists staggered to a nightwatchman's shack and telephoned police.

A doctor at Jefferson Davis Hospital said Turner was treated and released this morning.

The six Ks ranged from 1½ inches to 3 inches in length and went from Turner's chest to his stomach, the doctor said. Rope marks were on the Negro's wrists and ankles.

Police said Turner told them he was walking near his home in a Negro residential area at 10:15 p.m. when two masked white youths leaped from a car and grabbed him. They carried guns and forced him into the back seat of a sedan.

Turner said he struggled to free himself but the youths gagged him and beat him to the floor with chains.

They took him to a wooded area where he was tied and hung from the tree by his heels, he said. There they beat him with chains and rope, cut off his jacket and shirt and scratched the Ks on his stomach and chest with a knife.

As the white youths were leaving one of them told Turner that if he tried to escape one of them would kill him, the Negro said.

Police Lt. Breckenridge Porter said Turner's wounds could not have been self-inflicted.

Turner, unemployed, told police that a red-haired youth in the front of the car told him they were hired to do a job because of publicity Texas Southern University Negro students received over sit-ins at a lunch counter at Houston in the past few days.

A group of students from the all-Negro university staged their first sit-in Friday at a lunch counter in a supermarket. The sit-ins spread to a drug store Saturday and a third store Monday. All were peaceful.

Houston schools have 170,000 students. About 50,000 are Negroes.

An integration suit is pending before U.S. Dist. Judge Ben Connally but he has given no indication when he would hand down a decision.

The sit-ins were in stores near the university on the opposite side of town from where Turner was beaten.

A doctor at the hospital said Turner suffered one bad cut on his head, and bruises and minor cuts on the lips, right shoulder and across the chest. These were in addition to the Ks on his chest and stomach.

Warren Counsel Files Answer To Get Charter Vote

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Counsel for Warren city officials has filed an answer to an Ohio Supreme Court action seeking to force a vote on a proposed city charter at a special election April 12.

The answer to an alternative writ of mandamus asked Walter D. Graham, Warren taxpayer, to make more definite and certain his petition demanding a vote on the proposal. In the absence of such action by Graham, counsel asked the high court to dismiss his petition.

He asked the court to order emergency passage of the charter proposal by City Council, which previously turned it down, and to order the mayor to rescind his veto of measures for $5,500 in expenses for a charter commission and for Bohl to advertise for bids on printed copies of the proposal.

"The entire petition does not contain any allegations setting forth a duty which the respondents are required to perform and which relator has a right to compel them to perform," said attorney Charles T. Kapps of Columbus, counsel for the Warren officials.

Snow, Cold Hamper Hancock Soil Testing

NEW CUMBERLAND — The heavy snow has added to the woes of the Hancock County Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Farmers who wish to qualify for cost-share benefits offered by the committee for improving farms first must have soil tested by Oliver Johnston, agricultural agent.

The testing isn't a problem but getting farmers to bring soil to the agricultural office is, Mrs. Norma Murray, ASC office manager points out. Farmers first must dig through snow of up to 14 inches to reach the soil and the frozen earth presents another problem.

Participation by farmers in the ASC program has been the slowest this year since 1952. The ASC committee, headed by C. C. Herron of Pughtown, will meet March 16 at 9:30 a. m. to discuss cost-share allotments to county farmers for fertilizing, tree planting, and building watering troughs or ponds.

County Lets Contracts For 2 Cars For Sheriff

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Monday awarded contracts to low bidders for two cars for the sheriff's department.

Neil Motors in East Palestine will supply a 1960 Dodge for $1,104, bidding $1,250 for a 1958 Pontiac trade-in. There were three other bidders.

Reichenbach Chevrolet Motors at North Georgetown received an order for a 1960 Chevrolet for $1,400, with $1,469.85 trade-in-for a 1958 Chevrolet. There were five other bidders.

Farmers who wish to qualify for cost-share benefits offered by the committee for improving farms first must have soil tested by Oliver Johnston, agricultural agent.

The testing isn't a problem but getting farmers to bring soil to the agricultural office is, Mrs. Norma Murray, ASC office manager points out. Farmers first must dig through snow of up to 14 inches to reach the soil and the frozen earth presents another problem.

Participation by farmers in the ASC program has been the slowest this year since 1952. The ASC committee, headed by C. C. Herron of Pughtown, will meet March 16 at 9:30 a. m. to discuss cost-share allotments to county farmers for fertilizing, tree planting, and building watering troughs or ponds.
